The scheduled pre-trial examination of two Detroit men arrested in connection with the shooting death of a Detroit Metro Airport visitor was postponed last Wednesday by 34th District Court Judge William Szlinis because neither defendant was represented by a lawyer.

The defendants, Charles Douglas Scott, 33, and Isaac Collier, 26, were escorted into court about 2:15 p.m.

Wednesday, Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Curtis Smith then informed Szlinis that neither defendant had an attorney present.

The judge then quizzed one defendant asking, "Mr. Collier didn't you say at your arraignment that you were going to hire your own attorney?" Collier said because of the cost he would not be able to do so.

Szlinis then set a new court date for 9 a.m. April 20 for the hearing on charges that the defendants shot to death Elwin A. Lillie, 54, of Evart on April 2 as he sat in his car in a Romulus McDonald's Restaurant parking lot on Middlebelt Road.

Lillie had arrived at the scene a short time before in anticipation of picking up his 80-year-old mother, Marian, at Detroit Metro Airport. She was flying into Metro from Florida.

The pair face charges of felonious murder and robbery and a felony firearm complaint.

The court delay caused obvious distress with the victim's out-of-state family members, some of who related they would not be able to return this Wednesday.

Several brothers praised the action by the Romulus Police Department but said they felt extremely hurt by the fact the hearing was delayed.

Szlinis also warned the half dozen or more state witnesses in attendance that they must attend the Wednesday pre-hearing session.

Murder probe turned over to Eton sheriff

By AL POST

The investigation into the death of a barefoot 30-year-old Lansing area businessman found in an open Romulus field last Wednesday has been referred to the Eton County Sheriff's Department, Romulus Detective Lt. Dan Snyder said Monday.

Eton County Sheriff's detectives traveled to Romulus Monday to confer with Romulus detectives and to view the location where the body was found, an open field on Cogswell Road south of Ecorse. A private citizen found the victim's body about 8 a.m. April 13.

The victim, Ronald Clark Pasko, was identified by his parents who reside in Indiana last Thursday at the Wayne County Coroner's Office. An autopsy revealed he was dead between 12 and 24 hours, when he was found. He reportedly died of a single knife puncture wound in the back.

Eton County Sheriff's detectives found traces of the victim's blood inside his suburban Lansing area home last Friday and are working on the theory he was killed there and then transported for some reason to Romulus

Mr. Pasko was a Purdue University graduate, who earned an engineering degree. Pasko was divorced and was working for a Lansing area car company, police said.

Snyder stated the victim's family members reported Pasko had been living in Delta Township, just outside Lansing, for about a year. Prior to that he lived in Indiana.

Pasko's body was dressed in a red turtleneck shirt and jeans when he was found by a citizen Wednesday, Snyder said. The body had been stripped of all identification but information found nearby ultimately led to his identification.

Mr. Pasko's car was found abandoned on Route 69 on the Michigan side of the Indiana border.

Romulus Police will continue assisting the Eton County Sheriff's Department as the need arises, Snyder said.

In the meantime, detectives continue to search for anyone who saw the victim alive the last two days of his life and those who may have information about Mr. Pasko's lifestyle.

Heart ailment doesn't stop rescue effort

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A former Romulus man, who has been on a heart transplant list for the last two years, didn't let his ailment interfere with his rescue of a large dog who fell through the ice on Thunder Lake recently.

Harry Boelter, 61, who is becoming known as "dog's best friend", saw the dog fall through the early spring ice on April 7 and into the near freezing temperatures.

Boelter attempted to rescue the yellow Labrador retriever by pushing his canoe along the ice. Suddenly the thinning ice gave way and Boelter fell into the chest-deep water.

But Boelter had the strength to reset the canoe, place the shivering animal inside and then paddle to the other side of the lake, where his wife, Sylvia, was prepared to pick him up.

Boelter's concern that the dog might have to be euthanized proved unfounded when the owner was located. "It's not fair risking your life for a dog," his wife said, "and then have it put to sleep. We really like animals, but we can't keep it."

But Boelter's concerns were eased several days after a story of the dog's rescue appeared in the Ludington Daily News. The dog's owner responded and reclaimed the animal.

Boelter had rescued his own dog, Harley, from a similar accident in the river several years earlier.

Boelter learned of his heart problem back in 1991 just before undergoing a quadruple by-pass. His doctors said he apparently had been undergoing silent heart attacks up until that time.

Today after the operation, only two of the by-passes are currently working. But Boelter states he feels great, thanks also to the diet meals his "food cop" Sylvia continues to prepare for him.

The Boelters moved to Thunder Lake five years ago after he retired from Michigan Bell. Now he handcrafts muzzle loaders and grandfathers clocks and remodels the woodwork in his lakeside home.

In his spare time, he also rescues dogs and awaits a call that will tell him a new heart is awaiting his use.

Police monitoring striking truckers

Romulus police patrols are continuing to monitor local union picketers to ensure that no violence occurs following shots being fired at a Conway Control Xpress truck on April 8.

Police Lt. Eric Painter said that three shots fired nearly two weeks ago put a hole in the truck gasoline tank and flattened a tire, but no one was injured at the time.

Most of the action to date has been attempts by union truckers trying to impede non-union drivers from entering property sites usually manned by union transport workers, Painter said.

"We also had one incident of a union driver's personal vehicle chasing after a non-union driver operated truck. The personal vehicle went out of control and turned over on Middlebelt Road under I-94 in Ro-

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Day of Prayer set at City Hall

For the third year, Romulus area pastors and laity will be gathering outside City Hall for a National Day of Prayer effort.

Pastors Neil Swanger and Art Willis are currently coordinating the effort planned for noon May 5 at the new Romulus Veterans' Monument off Wayne Road.

He urged those taking part in the day of prayer service to begin arriving at the City Hall area by 11:45 a.m. that day. Similar prayer services are planned in thousands of other cities across the U.S. and Canada.

Shirley Dobson, wife of Dr. James Dobson of the Focus on the Family radio series, is serving again as national chairperson.

Swanger said local pastors will soon be receiving letters and phone calls urging them to take part on May 5.

"Local ministers will offer prayers on the world, nation, state, county, city, family and the personal me," Swanger said. "We have decided to widen the prayer area to us as individuals," he said, "because it has been said revival can not start in the world until it starts inside of each of us."

Further information can be obtained by calling Swanger at his home, 722-6636, or the Ball Road Tabernacle, 722-9638.

2 public hearings slated for May

Two public hearings have been called for May by the Romulus City Council members.

The first public hearing at 6 p.m. May 9 will be focusing on a sidewalk repair program slated for the city. The hearing will be conducted in 34th District Court Judge Felix Rogalle's courtroom, the temporary site for council meetings for the next eight months.

The second hearing at 6:30 p.m. May 23 will be for demolition approvals for 14 private properties within the city.

Owners or controllers of the said properties will be asked to attend the session.

Romulus student getting arts skills

While many theater and dance majors enjoy being in the spotlight, Alma College junior Andrea Elkins of Romulus is finding a comfortable place behind the scenes of the college Heritage Center for the Performing Arts.

Since November, Elkins has supervised student workers at the 500-seat concert hall and the 200-seat theater.

Elkins also serves as business manager for the theater and dance department. "Theatre may be an art, but you have to treat it like a science," she explained.

mulus," Painter said. "No one was injured in that accident either, but the union member's truck was heavily damaged."

"We will continue to allow union drivers to picket," Painter said, "because we feel it is their constitutional right, but we will step in immediately to stop any potential violence from occurring."

The union drivers are picketing throughout the U.S. protesting the rising number of non-union drivers being hired for jobs previously filled by union personnel, a spokesman said.

Volunteer urges others to help out

Gloria Chandler of Romulus became a volunteer while she was still in her teens and her efforts have only increased since she became a mother of three.

Chandler began singing in the choir and teaching Sunday School at the Community United Methodist Church when she was 16. Since then she has filled in as back-up piano player and lay leader at church.

"After my three children were born (Aaron, Shelley and Corey), I got involved with Corey Elementary School activities and Little League games to supplement my work with them as a mother," Chandler explained. "I even became a Cub Scout leader."

"I was inspired by my late dad's (Wilbur 'Bud' Koester) community involvement ethic, I guess," Chandler said. "It wasn't too surprising that they asked me to serve as president of the Cory School Parent Teacher Association and act as its historian. We also provided a mother's hot lunch day once a week before hot lunches were the regular fare...passing out hot dogs, chips and a Twinkie to the students."

Chandler added, "Because I didn't work outside the house at the time and I had a supportive husband, Sheldon, I was able to successfully run for the school board in 1973 and 1977. At that time school board members received no pay, so that, too, was a major volunteer effort."

As her children got older, Chandler said, "I became a charter member and treasurer of the Romulus Historical Society, charter member in 1984 of the Romulus Arts Council, member of the city's Historical Commission, Friends of the Library support group and even helped coordinate the Mothers March of Dimes Drive for Romulus in 1970."

Chandler stated proudly, "That year we collected an extraordinary amount of money from Romulus families and I was even honored with a plaque from the March of Dimes for my efforts."

Chandler said, "I helped coordinate last year's 'Music in the Park' effort that saw three different style musical entertainers perform in Romulus and continue to work for the annual 'Arts and Crafts Fair' each year."

She concluded, "I'm not trying to gloat about my involvement, but I feel it is what being a member of a community is all about. I also try to inspire others to get involved through my actions not my words."

Temporary library attracting readers

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The temporary Romulus Public Library facility at the old Mount Pleasant School on Superior Road is attracting many new young adult members, veteran Librarian Diane Hazen said Tuesday.

"Many middle school students and older youths are now using the library for on-site school project work," Hazen said, "and fewer materials are being taken out of the library."

Hazen said her staff members are constantly signing up new library members, because the school building is closer to a part of the city where residents found access at the usual library site, adjacent to the City Hall building, more difficult.

"But we have lost some old members from the Grant Road area that frequented the library at its regular site and we are not circulating our videos as heavily as we did before," Hazen said.

"We have little dead time during the week even though many city residents do not know our new location or our temporary telephone numbers (941-7369 or 941-7618)," Hazen said.

"In fact last Friday when lightning hit our electrical transformer and darkened the library (in the old school gym), residents came in and borrowed my flashlight to locate books they wanted to check out," Hazen continued.

The library also saw some slippage in residents seeking income tax materials and copying services for income tax forms, Hazen said, "but now we find members of sports families who come to the school field for ball games are also coming into the library part of the time."

The pre-school story time hour is continuing at 7 p.m. Tuesday and 10:30 a.m. Thursday, she said, and plans are already under way for a summer reading program that will have a camping theme this year.

A new youth services librarian, Shelly Delano, has joined the library staff since the move and is already becoming very popular with the young readers, Hazen said.

Library hours are noon to 8 p.m. Mondays and Tuesdays, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays and noon to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

2 more school administrators transferred to new positions

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The final administration personnel switches in the Romulus Community School District have been confirmed this week.

Ed Clark, who has been heading the district-sponsored Partnership with Education program, will become Middle School assistant principal and Melvin Kimbrough, who has been Middle School principal will be transferred to a similar post at the high school.

Superintendent Dr. William Bedell said the recent administration transfers were sparked by the pending retirement of Merriman Elementary School Principal Daniel Murray and the need to cut at least one administrative post because of budget cuts.

Most of Clark's duties as head of the Partnership with Education program will be picked up by Art McPharlin, current administrative assistant to Dr. Bedell.

Bedell said McPharlin's salary will now be paid by the Adult Education fund, allowing the district to slice one total salary from the administration budget.

Earlier it was announced that Middle School Principal Andrea Williams will take over Murray's vacant post this fall and that Daniel Hurst, currently one of two high school vice principals, will be installed as the new Romulus Middle School principal. The other high school assistant principal is Michael Teasdale.

Ed Clark

Melvin Kimbrough

McPharlin's job description will take on more adult education and Partnership with Education priorities this fall.

The school board announced last fall that a possible $2 million fund shortfall could occur by the end of the 1993-94 school year. A number of personnel and school supply costs were outlined for the coming year.

Following those early announcements came the word from Assistant Superintendent of Schools Joel Carr that the district would also have to pay a $250,000 charge back to the Wayne County Superintendent of Schools for past special education services.

Carr expressed concern about the massive charge back rate, stating he did not know at this time where the district would get the money from.

"Obviously we can't spend that money twice," said Carr, inferring that other district-wide cuts may also be in the offing.

3rd grader named finalist

By AL POST

Della Chablis Hamby, an honor student at Cory Elementary School, has been named a finalist in the 1994 Pre-Teen Michigan Scholarship and Recognition Program. A reception celebrating her involvement will be conducted Aug. 5-7 at the Radisson Riverfront Hotel in Flint.

She is the daughter of William and Della Hamby of Romulus. She has two brothers, Chuckii and Chavis.

The scholarship recognition event will include the awarding of more than $5,000 in educational bonds, prizes and awards. The program involves female students 7 to 12 years of age, who are in the top 10 percent of the state academically or have been recognized publicly for their outstanding personal achievements, leadership abilities or creative talents.

State finalists will be

judged on academic achievement, volunteer service to church and community, school honors and activities, development of personal skills and abilities, comprehensive creativity, communicative ability and on stage review and acknowledgment of accomplishments.

Hamby's sponsor is Don Barden, of Barden Communications.

A third grader, Hamby has been on the principal's honor roll all year, received a perfect attendance award last year and was recently named student of the month at Cory School.

She is a tap dancer, a junior model (and will be modeling springtime fashions on April 28) and has been a junior cheerleader. Hamby also enjoys reading and singing.

She recently was selected a "little sister" in the new Romulus High School Big Sisters/Little Sisters program. Her big sister is Tiffany Piggee, a high school student, who recently helped Hamby tour the recently remodeled high school and gave her a plant to grow at home. Hamby also was treated to a free lunch at the high school.

Committee puts effort into festival plans

When you talk to those behind the scenes at the Romulus Festival, their excitement is infectious.

After months of meetings, they are "heading for the home stretch" in their preparations for the 13th annual event, and they are enthusiastic about the activities that are soon to take place.

"This is my 13th year on the festival committee, and it's my last," quipped Maryann Wells. "No, I'll be back next year."

"We all kid about dropping out after each festival, but then we're back again and preparing for another event," Wells said. "I work in a bank, and so naturally I get to handle the finances. The first year of the festival, my boss suggested that I get involved, and I've been here ever since. I remember the first year featured a street dance."

Susan Dorr volunteered to join the festival committee when asked by a friend.

"I joined to help her, and she quit," Dorr said. "This year, I'm working on the raffle and prize drawings."

Laurie Klakowski not only serves as chairman of the committee and coordinator of adult refreshments, but she has enlisted her daughter, Rebecca, to serve on the committee and help Wells with the financial duties.

"This could be my last year, if I go away to college," said Rebecca Klakowski.

Kathy Darnell, a longtime committee member, is in charge of arts and crafts, concessions and the bingo. Aiding her in the bingo is first-year committee member Ralph VanValkenburg.

Although absent from the April 12 meeting, John Smith was named as an indispensable part of the festival committee by fellow members.

"John is our electrician, and without him, there's no lights and no festival," said Chairman Laurie Klakowski.

The festival opens with a 6 p.m. May 20 parade and continues throughout the Michigan Week weekend.

Real People Magazine will feature local Olympic twins

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

She's a woman of the world, and as Sharon Hough, Wayne Kicks Tae Kwon Do contender, heads to Korea this week, only one thing is on her mind—winning.

Hough is competing in the World Games as a member of the Olympic team. Her determination to be the best has been rewarded with the opportunity to compete against the top Tae Kwon Do martial arts experts in the world.

Trained by Senior Master Ronald Rose, owner of Kicks Tae Kwon Do in Wayne, Hough and her twin sister, Karen Hough, have also been selected by People Magazine to be the subjects of an article in the upcoming issue, according to their mother Gloria Hough.

"Someone saw them when they were competing in the Nationals," Gloria Hough said. "They informed People Magazine, and before we knew it, they were saying the twins won a contest for an all-expenses-paid trip to New York where they will be made up by Cindy Crawford's make-up artist and two top world hair stylists.

"It's really so exciting. I'm trying to catch my breath from all that's going on. It will be next Monday when they begin their photo session. Then, they will be interviewed on Tuesday."

The 18-year-old black belts are former Canton Township residents. They previously informed the Associated Newspapers that their inspiration to learn the martial arts came from their older brother, Ed.

"My brother was a black belt and was really good," Karen Hough said. "We would watch him every day."

When the twins participate in various competitions throughout the U.S., they sometimes have to fight each other. Each has a unique style, according to their mother.

"Karen is the kind-hearted one, and she won't fight as hard against her sister because she doesn't want to hurt her," Hough said. "Sharon wants to go all the way. She's the tougher of the two."

Hough said when her daughters compete against each other they are very serious during the match.

"But, after they fight they both cry and hug each other," Hough said. "Then, everybody cries. It's so heartwarming to see them. Whether they win or lose, they don't hold a grudge. Both have been in second and first place."

Hough said when her daughters first decided to learn the self-defense moves, she was a bit leery.

"At first I wasn't sure if I wanted my girls fighting like that, but after I saw them, it made me want to learn," Hough said. "I also felt this was a good idea for them because I didn't want them to marry someone they would be afraid of."

Hough said her family owes a lot to Chris and Ron Rose.

"It's more than just taking classes," Hough said. "They are there for you if you have problems. Everyone pulled together to get Sharon to Korea. We even had someone offer to drive her to Chicago so she could catch a flight. My girls wouldn't be where they are today without the Rose family."

The entire Hough family participates in the Tae Kwon Do classes at Kicks. The twins father, Alan, and their mother are both brown belts.

Sharon Hough, left, and her twin, Karen, are both Tae Kwon Do black belts. This week Sharon Hough will leave for Korea as a member of the U.S. Olympic team and compete in the World Games. The pair, former Canton Township residents, will be featured in People Magazine next month.

Members present: Jere Dolph, Sharry Budd, Karl Gorham, Sherry Frazier, Martha Toth, Susan Ward Callahan, and David Peer. Also present were Superintendent James Richendollar, Director of Business Affairs Jack Hosmer, Director of Personnel Raymond Kohr, and Director of Instruction Douglas Brown.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Dolph. Superintendent Richendollar reported for the Curriculum Committee and recommended that two credits received for classes taken at Calvary Christian Academy be accepted by Belleville High School for Melissa Norton, per her request, pending written confirmation from Calvary Christian Academy regarding the class content. He stated that they should be literature credits and not history credits based on verbal confirmation from Calvary that literary works served as the basis for the course. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Sharry Budd, to approve the acceptance of the two elective credits pending written confirmation from Calvary Christian Academy. Motion carried unanimously.

Jack Hosmer reviewed the General Fund Budget amendments and presented the five-year budget forecast. Motion by Sharry Budd, supported by Martha Toth, to adopt the General Fund Budget amendments as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Superintendent Richendollar stated that the Curriculum Committee met on two occasions regarding the instrumental music program with no recommendation at this time. He felt that all the priority requests should be reviewed prior to making any recommendations. Discussion was held. It was noted that middle school students are presently registering for classes and a decision needs to be made as soon as possible. It was also noted that there is a need for additional uniforms. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Sharry Budd, that two additional staff persons be added to the band program and that the Board fund 70 additional uniforms. Discussion was held. Roll call vote: Ayes: Frazier and Budd. Nays: Peer, Callahan, Toth, Gorham, and Dolph. Motion failed.

Further discussion was held. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Sharry Budd, that two additional staff persons be added to the Band program and that the Board fund 40 additional uniforms. Roll call vote: Ayes: Frazier, Budd, and Gorham. Nays: Toth, Peer, Callahan, and Dolph. Motion failed.

Motion by David Peer, supported by Susan Ward Callahan, that the agenda item "Elementary Staffing and Social Workers" be tabled until after the Thursday work/study session. Ayes: Callahan, Toth, Peer, Budd, and Dolph. Nays: Gorham and Frazier. Motion carried.

There will be a special meeting on Monday, April 4, 1994, to make recommendations regarding the 1994-95 priority requests.

Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Sharry Budd, that two additional staff persons be added to the Band program and that the Board fund 40 additional uniforms so that the middle school students can go forth with registering for next school year. Ayes: Frazier, Budd, and Gorham. Nays: Callahan, Peer, Toth, and Dolph. Motion failed.

Sherry Frazier suggested that agenda item "Approval of Transportation Program Specifications and Authorization to Bid" be tabled until after the Thursday work/study session. Support Committee members recommended that the specifications be approved and authorization be given to bid a four-year contract. Motion by Susan Ward Callahan, supported by Martha Toth, to approve the Transportation Program specifications as presented and authorization be given to bid. Motion carried unanimously.

Ed Randolph, Manager of Plant Operations & Maintenance and Chris Arnold from Nordstrom-Samson Associates presented bids received from renovation of the restrooms at the Auditorium and Administration Building to meet ADA requirements. Chris Arnold stated that K & V Construction was the apparent low bidder with a lump sum base bid of $33,800 and that they have worked with K & V on successful projects in the past and find no reason not to award them the contract. He also recommended that, due to the high cost of the alternate bid for power door operators (additional $3,700), they not be included as part of the contract. Discussion was held. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Karl Gorham, that the bid be awarded to K & V Construction at a low bid of $33,800 and that one power door be installed at the Auditorium restroom. Discussion held. Sherry Frazier withdrew motion.

Student suspended in school bombing

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Following the April 12 evacuation of John Glenn High School in Westland due to the release of two suspected pepper mace spray bombs in the building, an 18-year-old student attending the school has been suspended pending a due process hearing to determine further disciplinary action, Wayne-Westland Assistant Superintendent of Schools Gary Dell said.

The student allegedly admitted to the crime, according to Dell, and has been ticketed for disturbing the peace, Westland police Sgt. Russell Nowaczek said.

The alleged mace bombs were released in the morning and afternoon, Dell said. Following the release of the second bomb, 1,800 students and faculty were evacuated from the building and 120 students were attended to by emergency personnel from the Westland Fire Department, Dell said.

A total of seven students and one teacher were transported to area hospitals for breathing difficulties where they were treated and released, according to Dell.

The first of two pepper bombs was released in the school around 10:30 a.m. when an "offensive odor was detected," and the second at 12:55 p.m. when emergency personnel were preparing to leave the scene, Dell said.

Three emergency units, 15 Westland police officers and 10 members of the Wayne County Hazardous Incident Response Team (HAZMAT) responded to the scene.

The first bombing, which affected three classrooms, was determined not to be toxic and two students were sent to the hospital for breathing difficulties, Dell said.

After the second pepper mace spray was released, administrators pulled the fire alarm and evacuated the building shortly after 1 p.m., sending students and faculty home for the remainder of the day, Dell said.

"Another one went off. This one was more widespread and everyone was still on site. We decided it was too hard to function and called the buses," Dell said.

According to Dell, investigators suspected that some sort of pepper spray was placed in the cold air return.

According to Assistant Westland Fire Chief Mike Reddy, use of the chemical analysis team coupled with the other emergency and police personnel was extremely expensive for the county, costing up to $10,000 for the run.

"The fire folks are interested tremendously since the chemical analysis team is a lot of cost to the county," Dell said.

According to Assistant Fire Chief George Riley, each fire department in the county provides the HAZMAT team with two firefighters and pays for those individuals out of city funds.

"Each man receives specialized training. We have to support them financially," Riley said.

Judge takes domestic dispute plan 'on road'

Westland 18th District Judge Gail McKnight recently presented the court Domestic Violence Case Management plan at the Wayne County Coordinating Council to Prevent Domestic Violence at the County Building.

The council members, appointed by County Executive Ed McNamara, with staff assistance from the County Public Health Department, bring together courts, police, prosecutors, the private bar, shelters, service providers and elected officials to organize efforts to stem domestic violence in Wayne County.

McKnight, who has served on the council since it was formed, presented the court coordinated approach at the meeting.

"From the court's point of view, these procedures are not 'pro' victim or 'pro' anyone, rather they represent the coordinated efforts of the police, the prosecutor, the bar and the court's plan to deal with these cases appropriately and fairly," McKnight said.

The state legislature required several years ago that all domestic violence defendants be detained for 24 hours to serve as a cooling-off period. After the 24 hours, the defendant is eligible to post bond unless the police deem that defendant to be a danger.

The Westland court, which is viewed as a model program for the resolution of domestic violence cases, has each of these cases reviewed by a probation officer for terms and conditions of release.

According to 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos the number of repeat cases have dropped to less than 5 percent.

"The prosecutor's office and the court have a 'no drop' policy. When cases can be easily dropped, there is a cycle of arrest, dismiss, arrest, dismiss, etc. This is not good for families, for officer's safety or for docket management."

Ford plan OK'd

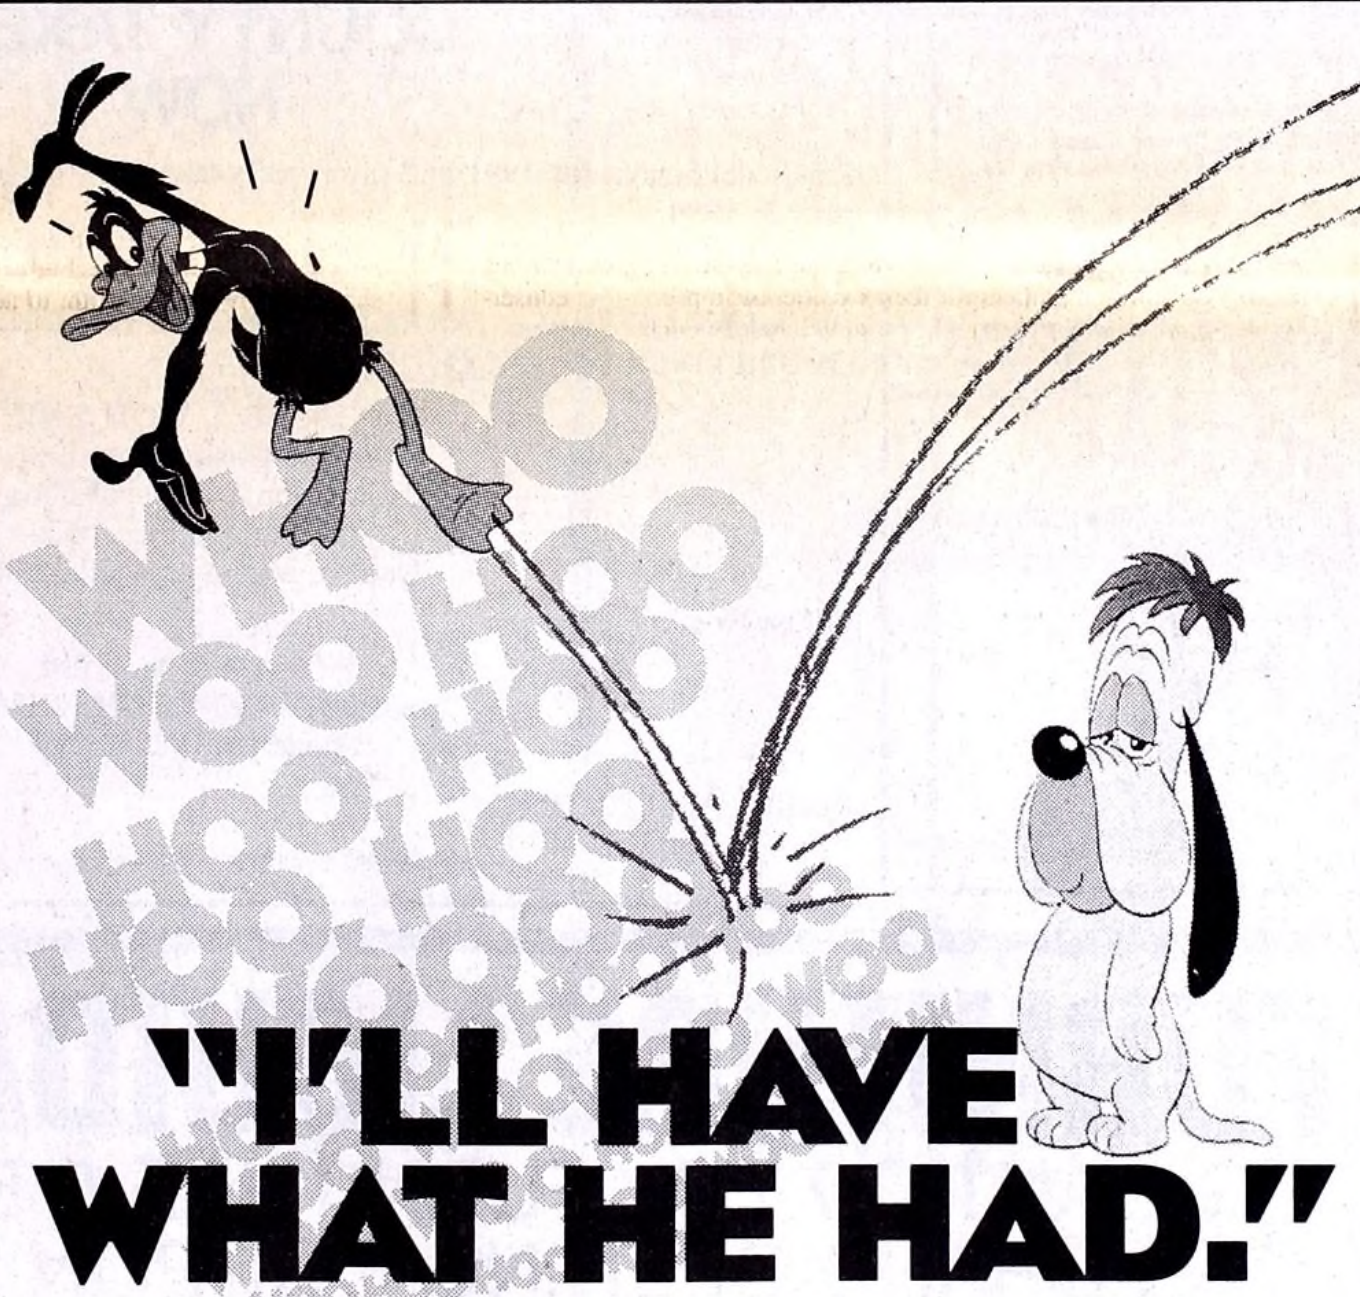

The site plan for the expansion of the Wayne Assembly Plant was recently approved by the Wayne council.

Ford Motor Co. submitted a plan to construct a 50,000-square-foot addition to the assembly plant, according to Wayne Community Development Director Debbie Manns.

"This expansion will be joined to the existing Assembly Plant," Manns said. "The area will be utilized for heat ovens for the paint processing."

The Wayne Planning Commission voted unanimously in favor of the site plan with the following contingencies:

- Post a handicapped parking sign at the designated handicapped parking space in the visitor parking lot.
- Replace the "no parking" signs along the fire lane at the access road west of the employee parking lot.
- Re-establish protective bullards around fire hydrant number 4.

2 face robbery charges

An April 20 arraignment on information has been scheduled for a Wayne man and an Inkster man charged with assault with intent to rob while armed, felony firearm and accessory after the fact in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Mingo L. Underwood, 17, and Eric Garner, 17, were allegedly involved in a robbery incident at John's Place party store on Glenwood at approximately 2:55 p.m. March 13, according to Wayne Police Lt. Mel Drews.

"A number of people were around the store when one of the suspects pulled a gun on the victim," Drews said. "He asked her for change initially. When she began to look, he told her to put the money on the ground."

"She refused, and then ran into the store. No injuries occurred. There were actually five suspects who fled on foot, and we are still continuing our investigation."

Underwood allegedly was the assailant who pulled a gun on the Wayne woman in the parking lot of John's Place. He is charged with assault with intent to rob while armed and felony firearm. If he is found guilty of both offenses, he could receive up to life in prison plus an additional two years for the felony firearm charge.

If Garner is found guilty of the accessory after the fact charge, he could receive up to five years in prison, according to Drews.

Both defendants appeared for an arraignment on information March 15 before Archbold, and a $30,000 cash bond was set for each. Drews said Underwood has a previous criminal record.

Anyone with information on the incident is requested by Drews to contact the Wayne Police Department at 721-1414.

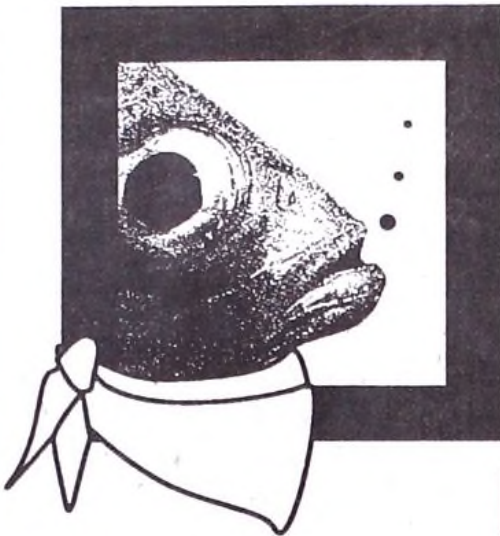

Driver's classes offered

Residents of the Wayne-Westland school district who do not attend classes in the district can register for driver education classes from 3 until 4 p.m. May 2 through 9 at the Cherry Hill Adult Center, 28500 Avondale between Midlebelt and Inkster roads.

Students must be 16 years of age by March 31, 1995 and provide proof of residency within the district, a birth certificate, a $10 book deposit and a current report card.

Police investigate 2 area robberies

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Westland police are investigating two recently reported unarmed robberies in which a man was allegedly beaten for $3 and a Walkman radio, according to Westland police reports.

The first incident occurred around 3:30 a.m. on April 9 when a 17-year-old Westland man was walking along the Dorsey/Ogeman backpath, just west of Jefferson Elementary School, located at 32150 Dorsey Road in Westland, police reports said.

The victim was walking east when he was approached by a perpetrator riding a 10-speed bicycle with a young boy on the handlebars. The perpetrator identified himself as an undercover police officer and when the victim asked to see his badge, the man could not produce one, police said.

As the victim began to walk away, the perpetrator grabbed his coat and attacked him from behind, punching him about the face and head, according to police.

The robber demanded the man's money and Walkman radio and when the victim gave the perpetrator the radio and $3 cash, he was punched in the nose, police said. The perpetrator and young boy fled on the bike and the victim suffered no serious injuries.

The assailant is described as a 30-year-old thin white male, approximately 6-feet-tall, wearing a black coat and yellow bandana. The youth is described as a white male between the ages of 7 and 10.

Police are also investigating an unarmed robbery at Perry Drugs, located at 31162 Warren in Westland, in which a Garden City woman was robbed of her purse containing credit cards and $5 in cash.

The incident occurred around 9:40 p.m. April 11 when a 30-year-old Garden City female was returning to her car after shopping at the drug store. A man she had noticed on the pay telephone when she entered the building approached her from behind and grabbed her purse as she began to unlock the driver's side door of her car, police reports said.

The woman began to struggle and scream, police said, and the perpetrator pushed her in the side and ran westbound through the parking lot and then northbound across Warren Road with the victim's purse in hand, police said.

The alleged robber is described as a white male, between 15 and 16-years-of-age, with a thin build, short dark hair, wearing a blue and black baseball cap, an oversized sweatshirt with a hood and long loose fitting pants.

School-to-work bill is approved

A bill, which would provide grants to set up educator-business-labor partnerships to provide technical training to students, was approved unanimously by the House Committee on Education and Labor.

The School-to-Work Opportunities Act could aid the 75 percent of American high school students who do not graduate from college to start a constructive career, according to its sponsor. The school course work would complement the participants on-the-job experience, enhancing their qualifications and presenting them with an opportunity to receive a portable, industry-recognized credential of specific occupational skills.

"This bill is an important blueprint to help us build a highly skilled work force for the 21st century," said Committee Chairman William D. Ford, D-13. "For those who have wondered when we were going to turn our attention from college education to doing something for the majority of our people who are not headed for professional careers, this is the 'when.'"

The program is designed to ensure that graduating high school students are led into higher education, with the promise of preparation for a career upon completion in business or police work, for example.

The bill will go to the full House of Representatives for further action.

Tora, Tora, Tora

Percy Lilly's comments, at last week's meeting, really started me thinking. He spoke of General Yamamoto standing on the deck of a Japanese aircraft carrier during the launching of the surprise attack of Pearl Harbor.

The general is shown expressing concern that the attack would wake a sleeping giant, who would prove a worthy opponent.

Percy went on to assert to Council that it would awaken its own sleeping giant if it failed to stay the course and continue the fight against EDS.

I'm confused by all of this. Who represents who, and who's for what.

Council started this lawsuit based, in part, on pressure from RECAP.

Council has now allocated over $240,000 on the lawsuit and it still isn't settled. Now RECAP appears to be threatening Council that it better keep up the fight.

It says there is a sleeping giant out there who will raise up if Council considers any other than solution to this problem.

Well I don't think so, and neither does anyone I know.

I don't think there is any sleeping giant out here. We're simply tired of this whole business. And the more money we spend on it the more concerned we become.

Tora, Tora, Tora means Tiger, Tiger, Tiger; the code that was to be used for a successful attack on Pearl Harbor.

I think this is just about the right expression for Lilly and RECAP.

I think they've launched their own sneak attack on the rest of Romulus. They have forced the rest of this City to grab a tiger by the tail. To put itself in a lose/lose situation. They are forcing this City to carry on their own personal cause at a great expense to everyone else.

Well, I hope Council sees through all this at some point. There's no sleeping giant, just us residents. And we want this behind us, now. Its time to get back to the business of this City, please start thinking about the other 22,000 residents and what they want.

Sincerely,

John Ryznar

SPRING CAR CARE

Selecting quality repair shops requires trust

Next to your home, your car or truck is probably the single largest purchase you will make. And, with the average new car costing around $15,000, it makes more sense than ever to keep your car in good running order rather than to replace it.

One of the most important things you can do to maintain your vehicle is to find an automotive repair facility you trust before you need emergency repairs. But, how do you choose from all of the automotive technicians and shops in your area?

Following some simple guidelines can help you make the right choice. Steve Handschuh, vice president of the National Automotive Parts Association, suggested four standards you should look for when you shop for an automotive service center.

"Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) certification, a trustworthy name, quality parts and a national warranty program are the four requirements you should demand of any shop that services your vehicle," Handschuh said. "Any repair facility that offers all of these is going to be a pretty safe bet."

When you see ASE displayed on the building, Handschuh said it means that the technicians there have been certified by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (NIASE).

NIASE is a non-profit independent organization that has conducted voluntary testing for 20 years. Twice each year, technicians have the opportunity to register to take any one of 20 ASE competency tests in four categories: automobile, truck, collision repair and engine machinery. There are eight tests in the automobile category alone.

Quality Parts

Trained, experienced technicians and a good reputation are still not the whole story. You must also be sure that the replacement parts that go into your car or truck are of the highest quality.

For most automotive service visits, you will have an investment in labor and parts. Just as the right part improperly installed does you no good, it is equally fruitless to have a sub-standard part correctly installed.

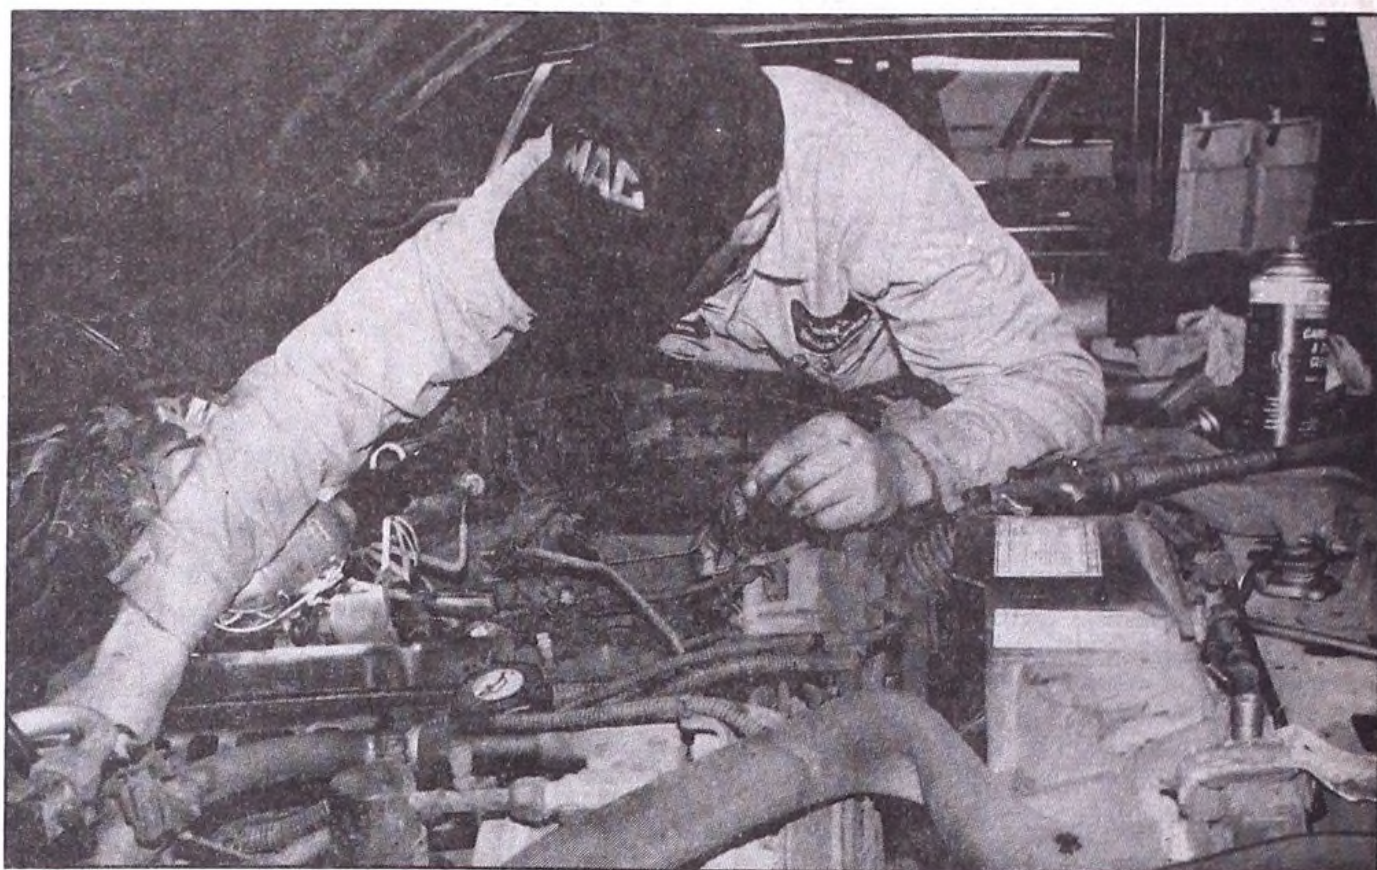

So, if you are the average car owner who knows little about automotive repair procedures, it's important that you find out whether the parts used by a given repair shop carry a well-respected brand name.

National Warranty Program

Another positive sign to look for when replacing automotive parts is the product warranty offered both by the parts manufacturer and the service center. For large or costly parts, be especially careful to get the warranty details. Find out the duration of the warranty, the conditions under which it will be honored and who will honor it.

For example, a warranty that is only good locally is useless if you need to invoke it while vacationing 500 miles from home.

The ideal warranty is comprehensive and honored by a nationwide network of automotive service centers. With this kind of support, you can be sure that no matter where you are when you need automotive service, you will be able to locate an authorized technician who can repair or replace your part under warranty.

A-1 Transmissions offers nation-wide warranty

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Quality products and workmanship along with lifetime guarantees are the mainstay of A-1 Cottman Transmissions of Garden City, the first location to be opened in the national chain.

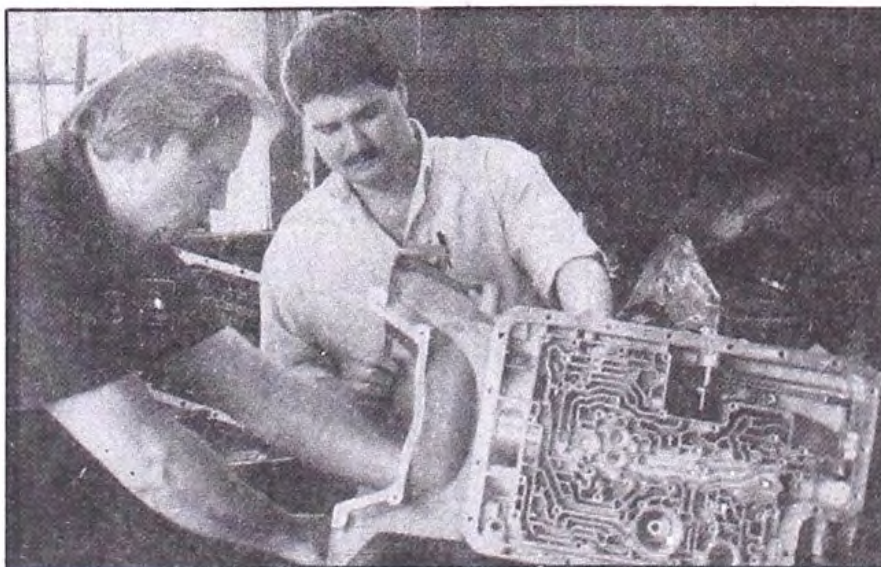

Owner Greg Hulce said that his six-member, state-certified repair crew services automatic transmissions, 4 by 4's, vans and recreational vehicles, clutches, drive shafts, imported vehicles and sports cars.

Vehicles repaired at A-1 Cottman Transmissions are given a nationwide warranty, Hulce explained, as more than 145 A-1 Cottman shops are in operation around the U.S.

"If any problems arise on vehicles repaired in our shop, all the owner needs to do is call our office and make arrangements for emergency repairs," Hulce said.

As a special incentive for Associated Newspapers VIP card owners, Hulce said he is offering 60 percent off all fluid changes.

A-1 Cottman Transmissions shop at 5939 Middlebelt Road in Garden City has been in operation since October 1973. Hulce, who was employed at the shop for the past six years, purchased the business last May.

SPRING CAR CARE

Spring car care tips are offered

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

It's officially spring which means it's time for the overall check of vehicle engine, fluids and tires.

In order to maintain a maximum automobile performance ability especially during the upcoming warm summer months, it's crucial to look over various parts of a vehicle which could prevent such hazards as overheating or stalling, according to Renny Coe, president of Henry's Service Center in Wayne, 3041 south Wayne Road.

"An oil change may be needed and all of the fluid levels should be checked including the antifreeze/coolant levels," Coe said. "If the antifreeze/coolant hasn't been flushed in two years, you might want to bring it in because the performance level of the car could go down."

Coe also recommends a quick inspection of belts and hoses of a vehicle because they react to the hot weather.

"Tires need to be checked which will help to avoid hydroplaning during the rainy spring/summer days," Coe said.

Henry's recently renovated the service area in order to serve more customers efficiently.

"We have four lift hoists now," Coe said. "We used to be able to serve three customers at a time, and now that we have expanded, we can serve eight."

Henry's has five experienced technicians on hand to serve clients. The Coe family has been providing quality service to area residents for more than 30 years, according to Coe.

"My dad (Henry Coe) still works here and my mother (Lea Coe) helps in the office," Coe said. "We've enjoyed having our business in Wayne, and what makes it so great is the people we serve."

To make an appointment for a spring checkup or any type of vehicle repair call Henry's Service Center at 721-8721, from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Fuel additives keep car running

Some gasolines available today can actually increase deposits on intake valves.

Once formed, intake valve deposits can reduce fuel efficiency and adversely affect overall engine performance. They could possibly even lead to an expensive repair bill.

With summer on the way, vehicle owners will be relying heavily on their cars for weekend outings, vacation travel and recreation. As a result, they will want to keep their fuel delivery system in top operating condition.

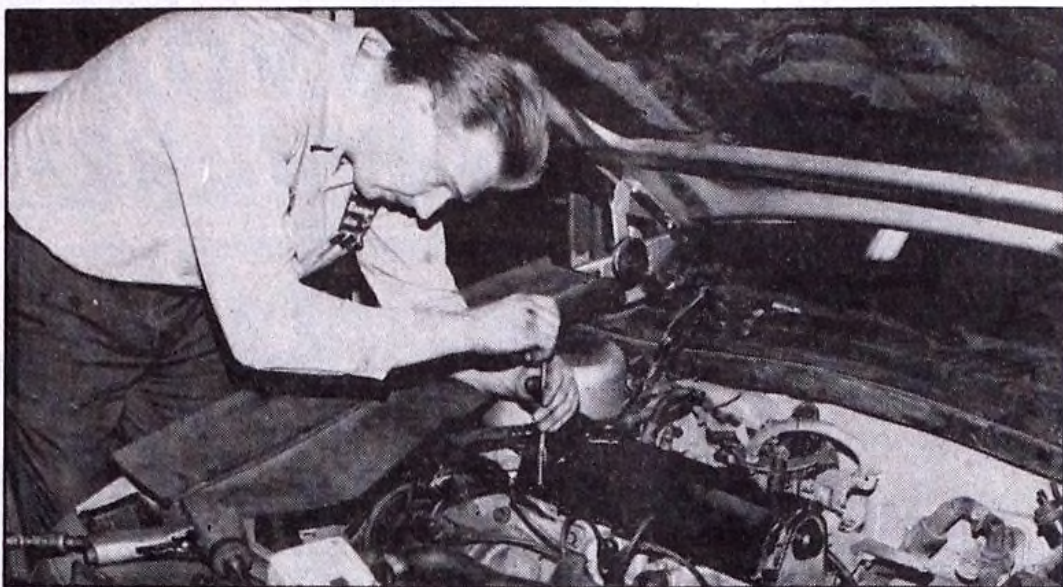

According to the experts at First Brands Corp., the maker of STP fuel additive products, a growing number of them will be turning to aftermarket fuel additives to get the job done.

By using a fuel additive such as STP/Super Concentrated Fuel Injector Cleaner, you can clean your fuel injection system and help prevent deposits from coming back.

The scientists at STP recommend adding a 12-ounce bottle of fuel injector cleaner product to a full tank of gas every 2,500 miles.

Renny Coe, president of Henry's Service Center in Wayne recommends vehicle owners have an oil change and fluids check before the warm temperatures arrive.

Rockets soar to 4-0

Undefeated John Glenn sweeps twin bill from Plymouth-Canton

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Like Bo Jackson, Bryan Besco apparently can do everything.

The 6-2, 230-pound Besco, who earned All-State recognition in football, also is starring for Westland John Glenn High School in baseball this season.

On Saturday, Besco faced only 21 Canton batters, gave up one hit, struck out 17 and shut out the Chiefs, 9-0, as coach Norm Hoenes' Rockets swept both ends of a double-header from their Western Lakes Conference rivals.

Besco also helped his cause with a pair of hits in two official appearances at the plate. He singled, doubled and knocked in a run.

In the opener, Besco's twin, Derek, scattered four hits as his teammates pounded home 11 runs in a 11-1 triumph that spoiled Ed Turek's debut as Canton coach.

Turek replaces Mark LaPointe, who quit last June after leading the Chiefs to the conference championship.

Hoenes was pleased with the team's efforts against Canton.

"We have some excellent athletes who have strong work ethics," said Hoenes, who is in his 28th season at Glenn. "They are off to a good start."

Besco missed getting a no-hitter in the second inning when Eric Arnold belted a two-out single. However, The Rocket hurler managed to pick the base runner off of first.

Glenn took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first, added three runs in each of the third and fourth innings and sealed the victory with a two-run sixth inning.

Mike Bent had a perfect four-for-four, a pair of singles and doubles, and four runs-batted in for the Rockets. Derek Besco also chipped in with a double and two singles and finished with three for four.

Turek started with Anthony Pastor on the mound. He was charged with the loss.

Canton got on the board first with a run in the opening inning, but the Westland players came back and scored three in their first to take the lead for good. Canton's Scott Vailmont, who worked the first three innings, took the loss.

Fordson ruins Romulus opener

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Fordson High School baseball players exploded for five runs in the first inning while pitcher Dave Westphal fired a one-hitter to spoil the Romulus opener, 13-0, last week.

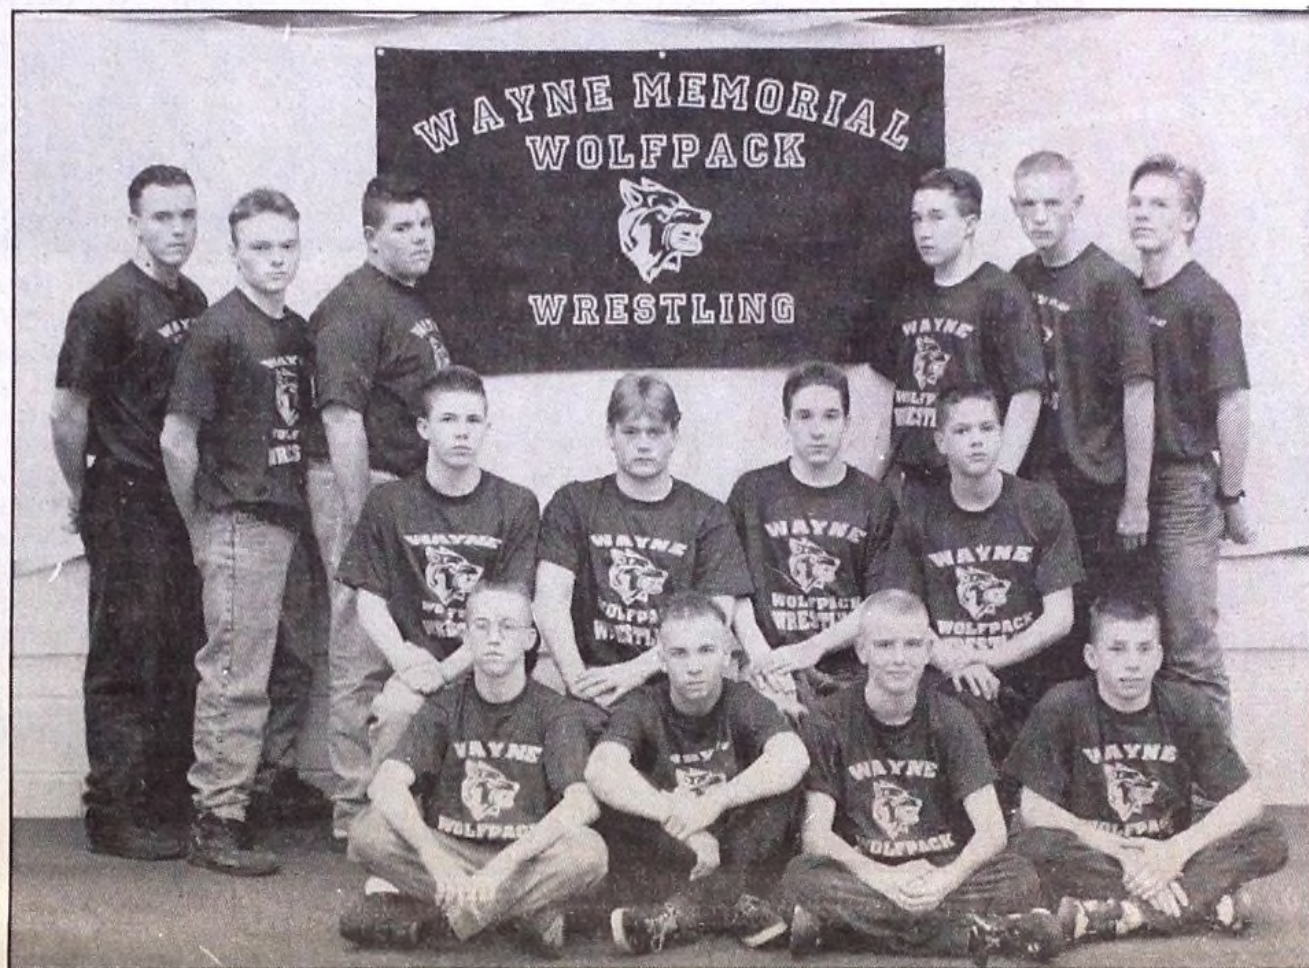

"It was our first game and their fifth," said Romulus coach Don Foley, "and it showed. I feel this game isn't indicative of this team's ability. After we get a couple of more games under our belts, we will be very competitive."

Foley sent Jesse Flores to the mound for the opening game of the season, and Flores lasted two complete innings before he was relieved by Eric Lambert. Lambert inherited a 7-0 deficit and worked one inning before southpaw Nick Locklear took over.

Fordson banged out nine hits off of the three Romulus hurlers, while winning pitcher Dave Westphal gave up one. Westphal's bid for a no-hitter went astray when Gary Harris sliced a first-inning double.

Weather permitting, the Eagles will play five games this week. They were scheduled to meet Ypsilanti Lincoln on Monday, then, on Tuesday, host Ann Arbor Pioneer.

"If the weather improves and we manage to get some games in, we should be all right," Foley said.

Although they finished in the middle of the pack in the Mega Conference, Wayne Memorial High School will be back in 1995 with a strong lineup in wrestling. The Zebras only lose one grappler to graduation - tri-captain Kalib Ford. The rest of the lineup will remain intact. Among the 1993-94 team members include: John Nichols, (first row) Jack Brown, Nathaniel Garrison and Rich Watson; Matt Balge (middle row), Mark Meyers, Bryan Barc and Jeff Proudlock; third row are Craig Britt, Duane Chamberlain, Patrick Grezecki, Matt Barc, Mike Mars and Jim Sivula. Not available at the time of the photo are team members Ford and Jamah Booze. ANP photo by Jim McGill

Not best of years Wayne wrestlers look to future

This has not been the best of years in wrestling for Wayne Memorial High School.

The once mighty Class A power, fallen to hard times by the pay to participate policy in the Wayne-Westland school district and a lack of numbers, struggled in this inaugural year in the Mega Conference Blue Division.

The overall 4-5 record posted by sophomore Wayne coach Ken Schmanky may have also led to the departure of the coach, who resigned after the 1993-94 campaign.

But Wayne, once a contender for the Class A state mat title under the coaching wizardry of legendary coach Don Haney, may yet rise

Belleville splits with Ypsilanti

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It only took a couple of games, but the Belleville High School baseball club apparently has gotten the message.

Coach John Bertz's Tigers bounced back after Ann Arbor Pioneer swept a twin bill in the season opener to split with neighboring rival, Ypsilanti, on Saturday.

Ypsi rallied for three runs in the bottom of the fourth to win the opener, 9-7. Belleville came back and blasted 18 hits en route to a first win of the 1994 campaign, 14-8, in the nightcap.

"We are going to be a good team," said Bertz, who added, "The kids have gotten down to work after the opening day fiasco."

The Tigers committed a dozen errors in the two losses to Pioneer. After the opener, Bertz vowed that he would crack down and put players on the field that would give 100 percent.

In the opener on Saturday against Ypsi, the Braves scored three times in the first inning off of losing pitcher Brian Dick. But Belleville came up four runs in the second to take a brief 4-3 lead which lasted until in the bottom half of the inning when the Braves tied the game at four all.

Again the Tigers struck for two runs in their third to grab a 6-4 lead, but when Ypsi struck for one more run in their third and erupted for what proved to be the winning runs in the fourth, that was all for Dick.

The lanky righthander was removed for Jason Garland, who finished up.

Ypsi starter Brett Pinnington also didn't finish the game. He was relieved by Zac Warren, who got the win.

Dick collected two of the Tigers seven hits, including a solo blast, for the first team home run. He also singled and drove in two runs. Teammate Rich Brennan, who also homered, finished with two hits.

Junior Belleville southpaw Jacob Redder scattered eight Ypsi hits, fanned nine and walked second en route to his and the team's first victory. Dave Brendun, relieved by Adam Sokolove was charged with the loss.

Jeremy Gray led the Belleville battery as he stroked four hits in five appearances at the plate. He had a double and two RBIs for the game. Dick continued his hitting streak, picking up three for five - all singles, while Rodney Komaromi doubled and homered for the winners.

Brennan finished with two for four, including a double and two runs batted in.

Belleville opened an inaugural Mega Conference Red Division campaign on Monday against Monroe, a former league opponent and the last Wolverine "A" Conference champ. The Tigers are at Southgate today (Wednesday) and will be home Friday to host Taylor Center.

The Tigers will wrap up the week with a double-header at home against Romulus.

Stranded 20 runners left on base costly for Wayne against Thurston

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Leaving 20 runners on the base paths against Redford Township Thurston High School proved costly to Wayne Memorial High School players Saturday.

"We managed to put the men on the bases, but didn't come up with key hits to push them around," said Wayne coach Jim Chronowski, after the Zebras dropped a double-header to the Blue Division Mega Conference representatives, 8-6, and 5-4. "These were two tough games to lose."

In the opener, Wayne struck early, scoring three runs off of winning pitcher Dan LaMontagne in the first inning. However, Thurston roared back and exploded for seven runs in the bottom of the second to go ahead for good.

Although Wayne cut the Thurston lead to 8-5 in the fourth, scored another run in the fifth and loaded the bases in the sixth, they never overcame the deficit.

Wayne pitcher Chris Czarzik lasted 1 2/3 innings and was charged with all eight runs before reliever Scott Wetmore took over and held Thurston scoreless the rest of the way. The junior right-hander surrendered only one of the nine hits that Thurston collected, and he just may have earned a spot in the Wayne starting rotation.

"Scotty has pitched strong for us and deserves a shot at starting," said Chronowski, whose club is now 1-3 on the young season.

Wayne banged out eight hits off of LaMontagne, who gave up three of those to Shannon Green. Green drilled two doubles, singled, scored once and also knocked in a run.

In the nightcap, again the inability of Wayne to come across with key hits with runners aboard led to its demise. The Zebras again left 10 runners stranded in the 5-4 setback.

Senior Jim King started for the Zebras and got in trouble in the third inning when Thurston got to him for four runs. Although Wayne chipped away at the Thurston lead, scoring one run each in the third, fourth, sixth and seventh innings, they never pushed across the go-ahead run.

In the first inning Wayne had the bases loaded with two outs and failed to come through. They also had men in excellent scoring position in the third, fifth and seventh, but didn't capitalize upon the opportunities.

King worked the first three innings, then handed the ball over to Jason Overton and the senior right-hander gathered goose eggs for the next 2 2/3 innings before Chronowski decided to get a look at pitcher Phil Snow.

Wayne, assigned to the tough Red Division of the Mega Conference, plays Taylor Center today at TC for their second conference game. (They were scheduled to meet Garden City on Monday). On Friday, weather permitting, Wyandotte will be down in the flats at Wayne.

Indoor soccer champs

Inkster shows signs of inexperience on diamond

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The good news is that Inkster High School baseball coach Jerome Orr doesn't believe that it can get any worse than the 16-0 beating the Vikings sustained from Willow Run in the season and Suburban Athletic Conference (SAC) opener last week.

The bad news is that the Vikings lost two of their first three games by lopsided margins.

"We have 12 sophomores on the roster and only two seniors," said Orr, who began his sixth season as head coach. "We just don't have the experience to throw against some of the other teams in this area and the SAC."

Willow Run player Eric Schmitt twirled a one-hitter, struck out eight and issued two walks in picking up the victory, while Ken Orr, who worked 1 1/3 innings and was tagged for 10 runs, digested the loss.

Orr went to the bench and got a look at three other pitchers including Lew Elliott, freshman southpaw Eddy Ford and Phil Baldwin.

Glenn collected a total of 11 hits off of three Canton pitchers. Jerome Cosby hammered his first homer, a solo blast in the second inning, and finished with two hits. Teammate Nick James also had two hits and an RBI. Derek Besco latched on to three singles and knocked in two runs for the winners.

Glenn will begin the Western Lakes Conference season on Friday, playing host to North Farmington. The Rockets were scheduled to make up a rain-cancelled game with Farmington Harrison on Tuesday and will travel to Livonia Franklin today for a "crossover" contest.

from the ashes. Wayne is regrouping forces and reassembling the booster club.

Also, Wayne will have a score of young grapplers like co-captains Matt Barc and Craig Britt, along with Matt Balge, Bryan Barc, Jack Brown, Duane Chamberlain and Mike Mars returning to the lineup. They will lost to graduation, however, Kalib Ford, who is the only senior on the club this year. Ford was one of the tri-captains.

Although they finished out of the running at the conference championships, the Zebras managed to finish with a 3-2 league record, falling behind league champ, Wyandotte, and runner-up Thurston.

How much did Pay-to-participate hurt the Wayne wrestling program?

"I don't think it hurt us that much," said a booster who asked not to be identified. "But, if Wayne is ever to re-establish itself as a state power, we will have to have more consistency and demand better from the coaching staff."

Schmitt lost the no-hitter early when he gave up a single to Brian Alford in the second inning.

On Saturday, the Vikings competed in the all-SAC Invitational and won a 13-11 slugfest from Highland Park as Orr, who relieved Ford in the third, picked up the victory.

Inkster was up 5-1 in the top of the second when the Par-kers came back and tilted the scoreboard for five runs in the bottom of the second and added four more in the third.

A five-run Inkster fifth inning proved to be the difference in this game.

Elliott paced the Viking assault as he sliced three hits, and also collected two runs batted in. Orr helped his cause with a three-run double in the fifth and finished with a pair of hits, while Elford drilled a two-run single also in the fifth.

Inkster apparently ran out of pitchers and gas in the duel with River Rouge who turned back Orr's Vikings, 14-3, in their final game of the tournament.

Inkster returns to the home field at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday when the Vikings will take on Ecorse in their next SAC encounter.

The SAC also will be without one long-time affiliate this season. The Redskins have informed league officials that they will not have a varsity baseball program this spring.

President resigns, new dean arrives

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Guests at the April 21 reception at the Wayne County Community College (WCCC) Western Center had mixed feelings about the occasion.

The event, which was scheduled to welcome Dr. Hattie Johnson as the new Western Center dean, also provided the opportunity for people to meet with the exiting president, Rafael Cortada, who has headed the college since 1990.

Cortada officially presented his resignation to the college board of trustees Monday night. He has accepted the presidency of Central Ohio Technical College and the post of director-dean of the Newark Campus of Ohio State University. The two colleges share a campus 30 miles east of Columbus, Ohio.

The WCCC president has received credit for guiding the college to attain 92 percent of its academic and financial goals which were established in 1990 by an independent monitoring group.

"I believe someone else can carry on from this point."
- Rafael Cortada

Prompting his resignation was a conflict with the board of trustees over the firing, and then rehiring, of two of his vice presidents last November. Although widely respected in the community, he has been at odds with at least one trustee.

"It is time to move on," Cortada said. "I believe someone else can carry on from this point."

Cortada did not comment on the reasons for his resignation, other than to say that, when hired, he had told the board of trustees, "You won't have a difficult time getting rid of me."

The college president noted that because of the close proximity of the Downriver Campus in Taylor and the Western Center in Van Buren Township, it is necessary to provide new services and new programs for the Western Center. He said agreements with Detroit College of Business, Siena College and the University of Detroit-Mercy will make the area campus a university center for the community.

"We need to focus more on retaining and outreach to the area school districts," Cortada said. "Instead of 50 percent of high school graduates entering colleges, we should have 99 or 100 percent moving on to college if they are to relate to a high tech world."

WCCC Trustee Ted Scott, who represents District 9 in western Wayne County, praised the leadership and accomplishments of Cortada.

"The first millage for the college was passed under his leadership. In the fall, a three-year renewal will be on the ballot. Its passage is important to the existence of the college," Scott said. "Dr. Cortada did not build something to disappear when he goes to his next job. What he (Cortada) has put into place, will continue to exist."

Dr. Hattie Johnson, the new dean, noted that Cortada has outlined initiatives for the Western Center.

Wayne County Community College Trustee Ted Scott and departing President Rafael Cortada exchanged views at a recent meeting of college officials. Cortada has submitted his resignation and a new president has been named.

"Dr. Cortada set the stage with his commitment to the mission of the college and the center," Johnson said. "Plans were made before I came here to establish a state-of-the-art computer lab. We plan to work in partnership to meet the needs and to improve the quality of life for the community."

Bill Richardson, principal of William D. Ford Vocational Center, welcomed Johnson to the college, stating, "You do not stand alone. The challenge of the entire educational community is with you."

In his closing statement, Ted Scott said, "She (Johnson) needs your help and we (the board of trustees) need your help. We need the guidance of groups and organizations to put together programs to serve the community."

Long-time aide announces bid for state representative's office

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Long-time Westland political activist Eileen DeHart, assistant to retiring State Representative Justine Barns, has announced her candidacy for the seat Barns will vacate.

"I think I have experience and know how to represent the City of Westland in Lansing," DeHart said.

DeHart said that Westland is "losing a lot of clout" with the retirement of Barns following her sixth term in office, which will expire Dec. 31.

"I think I can fill that gap," DeHart said, noting that she has been Barns aide for the past seven years.

The candidate, a Westland resident of 28 years, is a graduate of Belleville High School. DeHart, a mother of two, step-mother of three and grandmother of five, was employed as a Michigan Bell Telephone Company payroll clerk three years prior to becoming a secretary in the Wayne-Westland School District in 1972. She became a state legislative secretary in 1987 and a state aide in 1988.

Currently serving as a recording secretary to the 13th Congressional District Democratic Organization, DeHart is also a member of numerous Westland organizations including: Civitans, Democratic Club, Business and Professionnal Women, Planning Commission, Elderly Housing Board of Directors and a volunteer for Westland Goodfellows and Festival Committee.

In addition, DeHart, 45, is a democratic precinct delegate, Perrinsville Elementary School PTA member in the Livonia School District, delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1992 and a former Communications Workers of America Union Steward.

The candidate plans to focus her door-to-door campaign on service.

"I will be the servant of the public. I will be there at their whim," DeHart said.

The candidate's plans also include additional protection for senior citizens physically and financially.

"Seniors are one of the most vulnerable people in our state," DeHart said.

By seeking legislation to increase the penalty against criminals who prey on the elderly and the development of more stringent medical insurance and life insurance laws, DeHart hopes to accomplish this goal.

According to DeHart, the public education system also needs to be protected.

"If the system breaks down, children won't be getting the good education they're entitled to," she said.

DeHart will have two campaign managers -- Westland City Councilwoman Sharon

Scott and her brother Bill Johnson.

DeHart is married to Ben DeHart, a former Westland City Councilman who also announced his bid for the seat last week. However, Ben DeHart later telephoned Dick McKnight, 13th Congressional District Party Chairman, and informed him he would not be seeking office.

"I think it was a very gracious thing for him to let me know he wasn't running and not to run in favor of his wife," McKnight said. "He made the right decision."

Ben DeHart could not be reached for comment at press time.

$860 million project planned for state highways

Some 1,000 miles of Michigan highways will be improved this year as part of Governor John Engler's Build Michigan program.

Reconstruction of M-59 in Macomb County, which will replace the current two-lane highway with a new six- to eight-lane boulevard, is one of the highlights of the project. In addition, 22 bridges in Detroit will be repaired and improved.

According to State Transportation Director Pat Nowak, the 1994 program will include $448 million in construction lettings to improve 998 miles of state highways, $412 million in construction lettings and local expenditures for roads, streets and bridges for cities, villages and counties plus $44 million in Economic Development funds to support transportation improvements to serve new or expanded businesses and industries. The program also includes $59 million for improvements at 31 Michigan airports.

Wayne County projects include:

- Reconstruction and widening of three-tenths mile of Eureka Road from Inter-tate-275 to the access road for three firms located near Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

- Widening and reconstruction of one-half mile of Newburgh Road from Ford Road (M-153) to Cherry Hill Industrial Park in Westland.

- Reconstruction and widening one mile of Merriman Road from 6 Mile to 7 Mile

Road in Livonia to lessen traffic congestion

- Widening and reconstruction of two-tenths mile of Gerald Avenue from 7 Mile Road to Wallis in Northville.

- Reconstruction of three-tenths mile of Marion Avenue in River Rouge to improve access to an iron products firm.

Bridge reconstruction work will be done on nine Lodge

Freeway (M-10) bridges, four Fisher Freeway (I-75) bridges, four Ford Freeway (I-94) bridges and three Jeffries Freeway (I-96) beams and bridges.

2 charged in assaults

A Westland man pleaded guilty to felonious assault and carrying a concealed weapon last week in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Frank D. Bell is expected to be sentenced May 6 before Recorder's Court Judge Michael Sapala. Bell was arrested by Wayne police for allegedly assaulting various individuals at 2 a.m. March 18 in the Farmer Jack parking lot in Wayne.

Bell was allegedly assisted by Joseph M. Wiper, 18, of Westland, who is charged with felonious assault. Wiper is expected to appear for a trial May 23 before Judge Sapala.

The incident was gang related, according to Wayne Police Lt. Mel Drews.

Both defendants were arraigned March 19, and a $2,500 cash bond was set for each.

PERILOUS TIMES

Native Detroiter creates original, compelling Gospel drama

he Bible warns us that 'perilous times'—a time of great sorrow—shall come on the earth. We are told that... 'men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy.'—II Timothy 3:2.

It's expected to be a production so powerful that it will change the lives of those who witness the explosive and compelling Gospel drama created by Detroit native T. J. Hemphill-Perilous Times.

Playing at the Fisher Theatre April 19-24, Perilous is a vivid depiction of the battles people face daily. In an emotion-packed musical exodus through times, a young man of the 1990s is shaken from a dead-end path and awakened to his own salvation as he witnesses an intense retelling of the life of Christ.

Perilous addresses today's social perils while delivering a transforming message of hope and promise, according to Hemphill.

"The inspiration for this production, believe it or not, came from years ago, an old Sunday school class during the Easter season," Hemphill said. "Myself and a friend of mine were actually thinking of the same thing at the same time. He's now my brother-in-law."

"So we got together, and he basically put together a biblical play. That production, played at Ford auditorium in 1985 entitled The Revelation of Jesus Christ."

That play, however, sat on the shelf for a few years after its debut, according to Hemphill.

"Then my friend went on to become an assistant pastor at our church," Hemphill said. "So, we pulled that play out of the hopper, but at that time, I just felt something was missing. So, I decided to rewrite the entire play and bring it to a 1990s current setting."

"I believe if you want to reach people with a real strong message, sometimes you have to go to where they are."

Raised in the Brewster projects on Detroit's lower east side, Hemphill had a dream to help people. He graduated from Detroit Eastern High School and continued his education at Wayne State University where he achieved a degree in education.

Hemphill was a teacher for eight years in the Detroit Public Schools. He took on the music and auditorium program voluntarily after the lack of funds prevented these programs from continuing. It was through this experience that Hemphill said he developed his love for the theater and the stage.

"By growing up in the Brewster Projects and teaching in the Detroit Public Schools, I got to see all of the blight of Detroit," Hemphill said. "I felt if we were really going to impact people, we have to bring a message to them which would change the nature of the place so that they would be interested in coming."

"What do people like? They like a little dancing and realism. I think the biblical thing was just too unrealistic for people. So bringing up the play to current history allows people to get into the entire production."

Perilous is a production which appeals to audiences of all ages, according to Hemphill.

"We have had people, 45, 56 years old who have had their whole lives changed as a result of watching this play," Hemphill said.

"We've had people who were alcoholics totally give it up after watching this play."

When Hemphill left the Detroit Public Schools, he became a commodities broker while manifesting the publishing skills necessary to produce the nationally-circulated Totally Gospel Magazine.

"When we were thinking of a name for the play, we felt that a biblical name was not going to work," Hemphill said. "Finally, my brother-in-law came up with Perilous Times."

Hemphill also wrote the majority of the songs for the play. He has composed more than 100 gospel songs to date.

"I wrote all the songs for this production except for one," Hemphill said. "The songs actually came as a result of my upbringing. The songs developed as my ear and training developed with music."

When Hemphill was teaching elementary school in the Detroit Public Schools around the middle 1970s, he said the funding for special programs such as music and theater were not available.

"I felt that children really need that kind of exposure to the cultural arts," Hemphill said. "So I took upon myself to continue those programs. I started writing plays and music at the same time for the children."

"We packed the house every night. People came from all over to see these kids perform. Channel 4 picked the program up at the time."

Hemphill also works diligently in the ministry of Christ. He is currently the pastor of St. Paul Life and Praise Center. His dedica-

Following a successful stint last year, the Missoula Children's Theatre will return in May to stage a production of The Wizard of Oz at the Sumpter Community Center.

Touring co-directors Gregory Boris and Jennifer Haroutounian will play the roles of the Wizard and the Scarecrow and youngsters from the area will audition for the roles of Dorothy, Tinman, Cowardly Lion, Wicked Witch of the West, Good Witch of the North, Toto, the Munchkins, the Winkies plus magical flowers and magicians.

Mary Herring of Sumpter Township, who is coordinating the show for the Belleville Council for the Arts, announced that auditions will be conducted from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. May 2 at the community center, 23501 Sumpter Road.

"All those planing to audition should arrive at 4:30 p.m. and plan to stay the full two hours. In addition, some of the cast members selected will be asked to stay for a rehearsal following the auditions," Herring said.

"The Missoula Children's Theatre Touring Production is complete with costumes, scenery, props and make-up and the actor-directors will conduct rehearsals for one week before the May presentations at 3 and 7 p.m. in the community center," Herring said. "It is amazing to see how the directors are able to bring the show to the stage in only one week."

Herring said the directors are well qualified and very talented.

"Gregory Boris graduated magna cum laude in business administration and summa cum laude in communications from the University of Wisconsin. He is also a cum laude graduate with a bachelor of fine arts degree in musical theater from the University of Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music, and worked with the Hot Summer Nights Repertory Company," Herring reported. "Jennifer Haroutounian is a 1993 magna cum laude graduate from the University of Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music. She has worked with the Allenberry Playhouse, the Kennedy Center and the Frederickburg Theatre Company."

She said children from kindergartners through high school seniors from Belleville, Sumpter Township and Van Buren Township are invited to audition on May 2.

The Missoula Children's Theatre is a non-profit organization based in Missoula, Montana. During the current season, 16 touring productions will serve more than 550 community from coast to coast throughout the United States and Canada.

Interested individuals may contact Herring at 697-4835.

Wayne chili competition is 'heating up'

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

It's time once again to stir up your favorite chili recipe for the 15th Annual Farmer Jack Great Chili Cook-Off and Country Music Festival which is coming to Wayne July 15-17.

The cook-off will take place July 16 and 17. It is sanctioned by the International Chili Society (ICS) and strictly follows all rules set forth by the ICS and Wayne County Health Department, according to Katie Spillane Knight, special events coordinator for the Great Chili Cook-Off.

"Right now we are looking for cooks for this event," Knight said. "You don't have to be a professional. If there are any teams interested in competing, that's great."

This year Knight said not only will there be the ICS North Central Regional Cook-Off (NCRC), but the Renegade competition is being brought back.

"The Renegade competition involves cooks putting anything in their chili that they like," Knight said. "This event even allows pastas and all kinds of beans. It will take place on Sunday (July 17)."

The NCRC has a few rules and regulations. Cooks will not be allowed to use beans, pastas or any "thickening agents," according to Knight. "They can use any combination of meat, chili peppers and spices," Knight said.

Sixty cooks will be selected to compete in the NCRC cook-off. The winner will receive $500 and a chance to compete in the ICS World Championship Cook-Off in Nevada this fall.

Approximately 40 cooks will be selected to compete in the Renegade Cook-Off. The winner will receive $250 and a guaranteed spot in the 1996 North Central Regional Chili Cook-Off.

Guaranteed individual and corporate patron spots are available. The corporate patron fee is $500 for the NCRC and $300 for the Renegade Cook-Off. The individual patron fee is $300 for the NCRC and $100 for the Renegade Cook-Off.

Applications for the events must be received along with a registration fee on or before 5 p.m. June 3. The registration fee is $55 ($25 if you are a current ICS member).

Due to an expected overabundance of applicants, participants will be selected through a lottery drawing June 7, 1994. If anyone is not selected, the registration fee will be refunded.

Those individuals selected will receive a confirmation letter, map, a set of rules for the ICS competition and Wayne County Health Department Rules.

The Chili Cook-Off is a benefit for the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan Inc. For more information on registering call 1-800-482-1455.

pastor of St. Paul Life and Praise Center. His dedication to his congregation and commitment to providing a better way of life is inspirational to many people.

Hemphill said what ignited his enthusiasm to create a stage production was the play Pal Joey he saw at the Bonstelle Theater.

"That play was really my inspiration to get into the theater," Hemphill said. "I was in total awe of the costumes and design. And, I wanted to be in it so bad."

It has taken three years for the Perilous production to come together. When it was first rehearsed, Hemphill said it took four hours to complete. "Now I've got it down to 2 1/2 hours," Hemphill said. "At least that's where it was last night. All of this takes a lot of time, finding the right music, actresses and actors. This is a rather large production because it's local. We have about 100 in the cast.

"When it goes on the road, it will probably scale down to 45 people. We're in New Orleans May 10-15. We're hoping to be in Chicago in June."

Perhaps the most notable among the stellar performing ensemble will be Vickie Winans of the celebrated Winans family. She will be on stage in Perilous every day of the run with the exception of Saturday.

"The message of this production is very clear," Hemphill said. "It's that there is definitely a better way to live."

3 plead guilty to faking station robbery

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Two Westland residents and a Plymouth Township man, who pleaded guilty to charges in connection with a false robbery which netted $900 in cash from a Westland gas station in late December 1993, were sentenced to two years probation in Detroit Recorder's Court Monday.

Dawn Marie Kuck, a 19-year-old Westland woman, pleaded guilty to embezzlement over $100, while Westland resident Christopher Allen Fanos, 18, and Jeffrey Allen Grigal, a 19-year-old Plymouth resident, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building.

The three will have their records cleared of the charges if they complete probation requirements under the Home Youthful Training Act (HYTA), according to a Recorder's Court clerk.

The three confessed after Westland police determined that a reported Dec. 28 robbery at Citgo Gas station, located at 1220 N. Wayne Road, was falsified.

According to police, Kuck, who knew Fanos as a regular customer, asked him to rob her. Fanos talked with his friend Grigal who agreed to help with the faked robbery, police said.

Kuck, who was working as a clerk at the gas station around 8 p.m. when the incident occurred, handed the cash over to Fanos, who was wearing a ski mask, according to police. Grigal accompanied Fanos, wearing a white cap so as not to be recognized. The two men left with the cash and later split the money, according to the statements.

Kuck later asked Fanos for at least $100 of the stolen cash and threatened "to get tough" with him if he didn't give her the money, according to reports. Fanos told Kuck they had already spent the money and Kuck reportedly never received the cash, according to statements.

Kuck reported the faked robbery to police and added that an unknown male warned her of the impending falsified crime earlier that day.

Accused shoplifter awaits trial

A 50-year-old Detroit man was bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court on charges of unarmed robbery, accused in the theft of three pairs of pants from the Hudson's store in Westland Center located at 35000 Warren Road, according to testimony taken in Westland 18th District Court.

Terrance D. Haneline was charged with unarmed robbery rather than larceny after attempting to flee from a Westland police officer who was trying to arrest him, according to the court records.

"...The use of force or intimidation in taking property or attempting to escape ... is sufficient enough in the case of robbery," 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos said.

Haneline, who is being held on a $10,000 cash bond, faces a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison if convicted.

Haneline has a criminal history dating back to age 22 which includes prison terms, according to Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Thomas Trzcinski.

Store detective Barbara Huband testified that she witnessed the defendant enter the young men's department with a female around 8:30 p.m.

I had to forcibly walk him to the vehicle. I tried to pat him down and he turned around and continued arguing.

- Thomas Lochinski

on March 26. She watched as the defendant selected three pairs of pants and set them aside on a rack. The store detective became suspicious and called store detective Dave Dexter for backup as well as mall security, Huband testified.

When she returned to the area, Huband witnessed the defendant place the pants into a white bag and exit the store.

"He went out the Cowan Road doors. Dexter tried to head him off. I saw both exit the first set of doors and heard a verbal confrontation. He (Haneline) tossed the bag and continued out the second set of doors to the parking lot," Huband testified.

As Huband recovered the merchandise between the two sets of doors, Dexter continued after the robber.

"A few minutes later Westland police had him," Huband said.

Westland police officer Thomas Lochinski testified that he saw the defendant walking north through the lot and asked him what he was doing. Haneline responded that he was waiting for his girlfriend to get off work, Lochinski testified.

The officer continued to pursue Haneline who began to argue with him.

"I had to forcibly walk him to the vehicle. I tried to pat him down and he turned around and continued arguing," Lochinski said.

Haneline continued to wrestle with the officer until Lochinski had to call for help and with the assistance of two other officers the defendant was maced and arrested.

These Madonna University students spent their spring break helping others by constructing homes for low-income families. Emily Litynski of Redford, Anne Mondro of Westland, Angie Molony of Livonia and Rachel Larose of Redford learned to work together as part of a seven-member team during the eight-day project.

Spring break? Vacation spent helping others

Westland resident Anne Mondro was one of seven Madonna University students who spent their spring break building houses for low-income families in Wichita, Kan.

"Helping people in need is self-satisfying. It's a great learning experience. Spending your spring break in Florida is exciting, but this combines fun with doing something for others," said student Steve Dorobeck of Lincoln Park.

Each student was required to pay $270 which covered the cost of their transportation plus a fee to Habitat, a non-profit, Christian housing organization. In return, Habitat provided food, supplies, lodging and an opportunity to share their talent and time with someone in need.

This is the second year Madonna students have participated in the Habitat Collegiate Challenge and through fundraising activities, the students were able to off-set their cost $100 each.

By working, living and cooking together, the "Madonna Seven" became a close group.

"There were no televisions or radios. We played a lot of cards and talked," Emily Litynski of Redford said.

The goal of Habitat workers is to end the use of substandard housing and construct decent living quarters for people in need.

Probation ordered in drug possession case

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A 23-year-old Wayne man, who pleaded guilty to resisting arrest, obstructing police and possession of marijuana in a June 20, 1993 tri-city car chase in which two parked vehicles and a house were damaged, was sentenced to three years probation before Detroit Recorder's Judge John Shamo.

James Glenn Neal pleaded guilty to the charges during a Sept. 21, 1993 pre-trial in Recorder's Court.

The incident began when Westland police officer David Heater attempted to arrest Neal around 7:30 p.m. during a routine Van Born Road traffic stop for driving 64 mph in a 50 mph zone, Westland officer Jim Dexter said. During the traffic stop, Heater discovered drug paraphernalia, marijuana and that Neal was driving with a suspended license, Dexter said.

When Heater attempted to handcuff the 6-foot-tall, 240 pound man, Neal escaped his grasp and pushed the officer away telling him he "was not gonna be arrested," Dexter said.

Neal got back into his vehicle, backed into the officer's patrol car and fled westbound on Van Born Road beginning a police/suspect chase which took Neal and other officers through the cities of Westland, Wayne and Romulus.

The chase ended in Wayne when Neal's car began smoking and could no longer be driven. While traveling southbound on Hayes Street, Neal jumped out of his car while it was still running and the car struck a house, Dexter said.

During the chase, Dexter said, Neal threw out three small plastic bags of marijuana, which were later recovered by police.

How much did you lose last year on nondeductible interest?

7.50% APR.*

FIXED RATE

Maybe you've noticed it while getting your taxes ready. All the interest you've paid on consumer loans that's not deductible.

Well, now's the time to think of a strategy for next year's taxes. And consider borrowing against the equity in your home.

Rosenau Hyundai is selling the new Sonata at the Michigan Avenue dealership.

Car questions answered

By Jeff Noble and Craig Garrett
ANP Special Writers

QUESTION: I have a 1991 Chevy Cavalier with a 2.2L, four cylinder and only 32,000 miles. My problem is the car idles and accelerates roughly. I've changed spark plugs and ignition wires, plus the fuel filter, but it still runs crummy and gas mileage is terrible. There's no smoke from the tailpipe and my mechanic has given up and recommended I go to the dealer. Can you guys help?

CRAIG: What do you think, Jeff? Sounds like a vacuum leak.

JEFF: A classic case of vacuum leak, Craig. Tell your mechanic to check for what I've found on a few cars recently — the manifold gasket on the No. 4 cylinder leaks requiring a new intake gasket. Your mechanic should know how to check for the problem you describe.

CRAIG: Don't forget about warranties.

JEFF: That's right. Too many people don't know these are the types of problems covered by the manufacturer.

QUESTION: I have a 1985 Oldsmobile Delta 88 with a V-8. My problem is the car runs rough and stalls only when it's cold outside, and we've had plenty of that lately. I've changed plugs, wires, distributor cap and rotor, and the fuel filter and none of that helped. It belches black smoke — a friend told me it might be the choke pull-off. What's that and where is it located?

CRAIG: Your friend should charge for advice.

JEFF: Yeah, your friend is probably right. The choke pull-off is bolted to the right side of the carburetor at the front near the choke housing. It's operated by vacuum from the carb. Its job is to open the choke plate slightly when you turn the key to prevent the engine from running too rich and causing many of the problems you describe.

CRAIG: Sounds like a bummer.

JEFF: You're right, Craig. It's not uncommon for the pull-off to go bad. I recommend replacement. Parts are relatively cheap and labor varies on who's doing the work. Craig will do it for pennies on the dollar.

CRAIG: Thanks, old pal.

JEFF: Any time.

Editor's note: Jeff Noble is a state licensed mechanic employed in Ann Arbor and living in Milan. Craig Garrett still searches for a real job. Got a car question? Mail it to:

Sonata makes local debut

Combining the complete functionality of a midsize family sedan with a beautiful, aerodynamic shape, the all-new 1995 Sonata has just become available at Rosenau Hyundai in Inkster.

Already being praised in the automotive media, the Sonata base model price of $13,299 makes it even more attractive to value-conscious buyers.

Select models will be available nationally through a special 36-month lease program for a payment of only $199 per month. The program is being offered through Hyundai Motor Finance Co. now through June 1, 1994.

The 1995 Sonata features an all-new platform, suspension, interior, exterior, significantly improved drive train, dual air bags and optional four-wheel ABS.

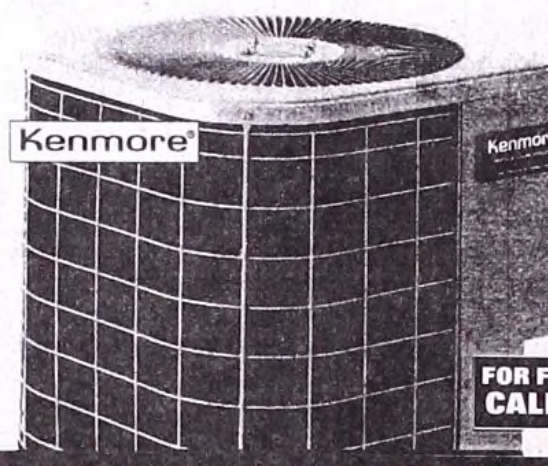

Every 1995 Sonata comes standard with dual air bags, air conditioning, power steering, body-colored bumpers, tilt steering column, tinted glass, full wheel covers, dual remote mirrors, full center console with storage tray, AM/FM stereo cassette with six speakers and P195/70R-14 black sidewall steel-belted all season radial tires.

A full complement of safety equipment makes the 1995 Sonata an ideal family car. Features include dual air bags for driver and front passenger with a special "single-point" sensing system, optional anti-lock braking (ABS), optional four-wheel disc brakes, 5 mph bumpers, child-proof rear door locks and enhanced side-impact occupant protection, energy absorbing steering column, frame-protected gas tank and reinforced side pillars and roof for roll-over.

In addition to the standard features, the Sonata GL adds automatic transmission, power windows, power door locks and heated power mirrors. The V-6 is optionally available at this equipment level.

For more information on the lease program, contact Rosenau Hyundai officials in Inkster at 730-2100.

Quote of the Week

"Someone has to set limits. It used to be the parents who set the limits, but currently it's the children. Now, it has to be up to the community to put in writing what is tolerated."

Mayor Glenn Silvenis, commenting on the newly adopted juvenile and parental responsibility ordinances.

Of Note

Canton officers investigate homicide

Police officers responded to 3800 Canton Center Road April 10 on a report of aggravated assault between two residents of the Canton Center Group Home.

A 42-year-old resident reportedly pushed a 53-year-old resident causing him to fall backward and hit his head. When staff members checked on the victim at 12:30 a.m., he was having difficulty breathing said police.

The victim was transported to Annapolis Hospital by Canton Fire Personnel and then airlifted to University of Michigan Hospital, where he was later pronounced dead.

The case remains under investigation pending the medical examiner's report.

Conference set for Inkster man

A May 20 final conference has been set for an Inkster man charged with two counts of assault with intent to murder and first-degree criminal sexual conduct in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Freddie D. Triplett, 30, was arrested by Wayne police for allegedly sexually assaulting a 16-year-old Westland girl near the railroad tracks in Wayne May 22, 1993.

The incident occurred near Swanson Street and Merriman Road at approximately 9 p.m., according to Wayne Police Lt. Mel Drews.

"The teenager was visiting her grandmother that day," Drews said. "She was distraught about a member of the family who died and decided to take a walk that evening between 8:30 p.m. and 9 p.m."

Triplett allegedly approached the girl and forced himself on her, according to Drews.

After the assault occurred, Wayne police Sgt. Bob McIntyre stated that the victim was tied up with her own clothing by the assailant. She was left to die, according to Drews.

"After some time she managed to untie herself and went to her grandmother's house," McIntyre said.

If Triplett is found guilty of assault with intent to murder and criminal sexual conduct, he could receive up to life in prison, according to Drews.

Sentencing set for robbery suspects

A May 17 sentencing has been scheduled for a Wayne man and woman charged with intent to rob while armed before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Isidore Torres.

Rickey Peters, 38, and Michelle Lorence, 31, both pleaded no contest April 18 on the robbery charge, according to court officials.

The two defendants allegedly demanded money from Canton Township resident Christopher A. Straughter at 3:50 a.m. Sept. 19 while pointing a knife at him at the Parklane Motel on Michigan Avenue.

A Recorder's Court jury found a 17-year-old Inkster youth guilty Wednesday of first-degree murder in the gunshot killing of a Grosse Ile man.

After a three-day trial conducted by Judge Karen Fort-Hood, the jury members concluded that Jamie Luis Huggins shot to death 28-year-old Dennis William Niebrzydowski during a robbery attempt in the 26000 block of Lehigh Street in the city of Inkster.

Niebrzydowski died of a bullet wound to the back.

The jury also found a co-defendant, Eric Wendell Lawson, not guilty of the felony murder.

Niebrzydowski was killed during the early morning hours on Dec. 12, 1993 when he and a friend reportedly drove to Inkster to purchase crack cocaine. Witnesses said that the victim was negotiating the purchase with a gang of youths when shots rang out.

According to court testimony, during the transaction, one of the dealers decided that he wanted the victim's Cadillac and ordered him out of the car.

Niebrzydowski and his friend refused to give up the car.

Instead, Niebrzydowski took off but not before Huggins fired a volley of bullets at the vehicle. One of the bullets struck the victim in the back, mortally wounding him.

However, Niebrzydowski continued to drive the vehicle until he lost consciousness. His friend took over the vehicle and drove to the Telegraph Road and Annapolis Road area where he called Dearborn Heights police.

The investigation, handled by Inkster detectives James Vergona and Richard Rashad, ended with the arrests of Huggins and Lawson.

Huggins also was found guilty of armed robbery and felony firearms. He was remanded to the Wayne County Jail by Fort-Hood, who set sentencing for April 28.

Huggins could be sentenced to life in jail, without parole, on the first-degree murder charge.

Lawson also remains behind bars. He is being held for violation of parole.

Vergona said he was "very pleased with the jury's decision."

"Any time a life is lost like this it's a tragedy," Vergona said. "But at least this time the killer didn't get away."

Dream flight Kite tails to soar at show

It's a fond memory that most of us share...holding on to a string while watching the wind take command of a paper diamond.

On May 7 those memories will be reawakened as children of all ages and their parents gather at Attwood Park at 1 p.m. for the kite flying demonstrations in Wayne.

Kites of all shapes, sizes and colors will fill the sky as onlookers watch the tails soar toward the sun. The event will take place from 1 until 2:30 p.m.

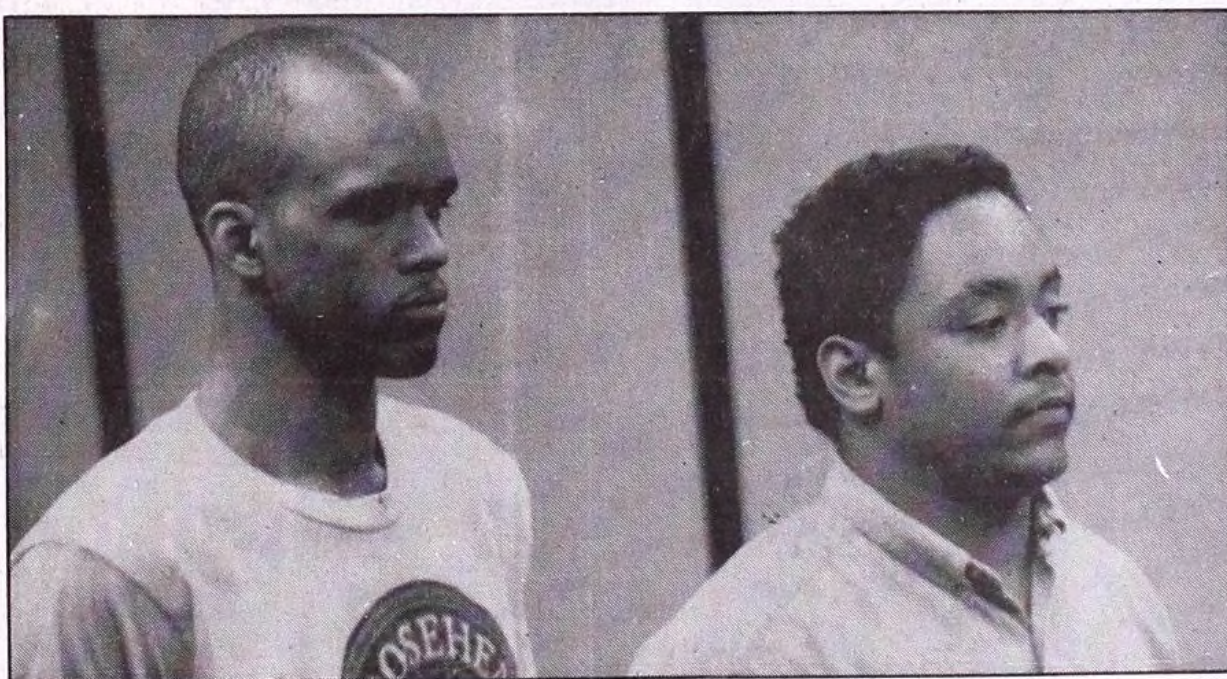

Kite enthusiasts from throughout the western Wayne County area are bringing their best flying creations to dazzle the audience.

Among the participants will be Wayne resident Ernie Good who loves flying kites so much that he owns more than 20 different designs.

Murder charges against an accused "stone faced" gunman and his alleged partner, who are charged with killing a Metro Airport visitor the day before Easter, were bound over to the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice last Wednesday by 34th District Court Judge William Szlinis.

The preliminary hearing for the pair had been slated for Wednesday April 13 but was adjourned quickly when Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Curtis Smith revealed neither defendant had an attorney present.

Accused are Charles Douglas Scott, 33, of Detroit, the alleged gunman in the killing of Elwin A. Lillie, 54, of Ewart, and Isaac Collier Jr., 26, also of Detroit, a co-murder defendant, who also is accused of car jacking an Inkster woman's car after the murder.

Smith called 10 witnesses in the morning and afternoon sessions last Wednesday, including several eyewitnesses to the shooting incident and one of the investigating officers, Detective Sgt. Mike Ondejko.

The first witness called was Dominic Triola of Detroit, who admitted that he loaned his black 1987 Escort to Collier, as he has done a number of times. The car was the vehicle the pair were allegedly sitting in when Lillie was killed in the parking lot of the McDonald's Restaurant on Middlebelt Road in Romulus on April 2 between 1 and 2 p.m.

Several people, who were in the McDonald's parking lot at the time were then called and testified they saw the two defendants in and around the victim's car after the shooting.

One witness, Yolanda Pezzat, testified

Deadly decision Examination set in area strangulation

By JENNIFER PLACINTO

Following an arrest by Westland police, a 34-year-old Taylor man has been arraigned on charges of first-degree murder in the strangulation death of his 30-year-old girlfriend whose body was found inside a 55-gallon drum in the defendant's pickup truck Monday morning, Taylor police Commander Stan Cybert said.

Bret Thomas Greenleaf is being held without bond pending an April 27 preliminary examination in Taylor 23rd District Court before Judge Anthony Nicita. Greenleaf was arraigned following his recovery from a prescription drug overdose which he allegedly took sometime Monday morning after the apparent murder.

Police have identified the victim's body as that of Tammy Lynn Davis, who is believed to have lived in Taylor with the accused killer on the 7100 block of Wilkie Street, Cybert said.

Westland police officers arrested Greenleaf at a friend's home located on the 34000 block of Caseville Court around 10:45 a.m. after Taylor police alerted area police departments to a possible homicide, Cybert said.

Taylor police were informed of the possible homicide by a concrete business owner in Southgate who said his Taylor employee telephoned him around 6 a.m. asking if he could pick up his check because he had just killed his girlfriend and needed to leave town, Cybert said.

"It sounds like he made a call to the business owner after awhile and drove to Westland," Cybert said.

After investigating near the Wilkie Street home and around the Southgate business, Taylor police were called by Westland police and informed that a suspect had just been arrested.

Westland police officers located the victim's body outside the Caseville Court address after a friend of Greenleaf called police to inform them the alleged perpetrator came to his home and notified him that he had an argument with the woman around 4:30 a.m. and he strangled her to death, Cybert said.

Student faces expulsion in wake of pepper mace attack

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

The fate of an 18-year-old John Glenn High School student accused of releasing pepper mace bombs in the school building rests in the hands of school officials and fire department supervisors who will make a recommendation to the members of the school board.

Wayne-Westland School supervisors, in cooperation with Westland Fire Department officials, scheduled a student disciplinary hearing to determine whether the student should be expelled from the district following the April 12 evacuation of the Westland school due to the release of two suspected pepper mace spray bombs in the building, Wayne-Westland Assistant Superintendent Gary Dell said. According to Dell, if a recommendation is made for expulsion, the school board members could take action as soon as Monday. The student may also be ordered to pay restitution to the fire department under a city cost recovery ordinance, Westland Assistant Fire Chief George Riley said.

According to Assistant Westland Fire Chief Mike Reddy, use of the chemical analysis team coupled with the other emergency and police personnel was extremely expensive, and may have cost up to $10,000 for the run.

"The fire folks are interested tremendously since the chemical analysis team is a lot of cost to the county," Dell

"Another one went off. This one was more widespread and everyone was still on site. We decided it was too hard to function and called the buses."

Gary Dell
Wayne-Westland Assistant Superintendent

said. According to Riley, each fire department in the county provides the HAZMAT team with two firefighters and pays for those individuals out of city funds.

"Each man receives specialized training. We have to support them financially," Riley said.

The student was suspended after allegedly admitting to the crime, according to Dell, and has been ticketed for disturbing the peace, Westland police Sgt. Russell Nowaczek said.

The alleged mace bombs were released in the morning and afternoon, Dell said. Following the release of the second bomb, 1,800 students and faculty were evacuated from the building and 120 students were attended to by emergency personnel from the Westland Fire Department, Dell said.

A total of seven students and one teacher were transported to area hospitals for breathing difficulties where they were treated and released, according to Dell.

The first of two pepper bombs was released in the school around 10:30 a.m. when an "offensive odor was detected," and the second at 12:55 p.m. when emergency personnel were preparing to leave the scene, Dell said.

Three emergency units, 15 Westland police officers and 10 members of the Wayne County Hazardous Incident Response Team (HAZMAT) responded to the scene.

The first bombing, which affected three classrooms, was determined not to be toxic and two students were sent to the hospital for breathing difficulties, Dell said.

After the second pepper mace spray was released, administrators pulled the fire alarm and evacuated the building shortly after 1 p.m., sending students and faculty home for the remainder of the day, Dell said.

"Another one went off. This one was more widespread and everyone was still on site. We decided it was too hard to function and called the buses," Dell said.

According to Dell, investigators suspected that some sort of pepper spray was placed in the cold air return.

she was seated in her car with her 12-year-old son, Benjamin, when she heard a "loud pop" and saw a large black man stuff a large gun into his pants and flee the area with his alleged accomplice.

From where she was sitting, Pezzat said, she was able to see the blood-splattered windshield of Lillie's car and viewed Scott's face close up.

Pezzat said she was able to pick Scott's "stone face" out of a photo line up a few days later at police headquarters.

A third witness, Dean Patten, said he noticed the two men trotting back and forth from the victim's car to their stalled Escort, as he first arrived in the parking lot.

Patten said the pair tried to push Lillie's Buick away from their get-away car. When that failed, he said, they filled their pockets with items from their car and fled.

He testified he saw Scott with a gun, which he claimed the defendant tried to hide with his dark trench coat. While he said he never actually heard the gun shot, he did see Scott place the gun through Lillie's open window apparently in an attempt to see if the victim was dead.

Patten said he got a good close up view of Scott before he fled. When questioned about his eyesight, Patten said he has, "20-20 vision and I know because I had my eyes examined on Sunday after I had dirt blow into one of my eyes."

Patten also said he was able to give police enough information they could create a composite of Scott's face.

On cross examination he was asked if he had talked to the victim's family in court prior to the hearing on Wednesday. Patten said, "Yes I was expressing my condolences to them over their loss."

"Did you know them prior to today?" Scott's lawyer, Lawrence Johnson asked. "No I didn't know them then and I don't know them now. I just felt sorry for them," Patten said.

Patten also told the court he is currently unemployed and said he never worked as a police officer, auxiliary officer or security guard in the past.

Another witness, Nancy Vojakovic, told the court that she thought she heard a car backfiring and then saw, "an older gentleman's car hit the McDonald's building. The victim's head then hit the windshield and blood splattered all over the glass."

She testified she saw two black men run past her van and claimed Scott looked directly at her as he passed. Because of that view, Vojakovic said, she was able to pick Scott's photo out of a lineup.

She said she quickly pulled up to the drive-up window at McDonald's and asked the girl "to call 9-1-1."

Smith then called Cornelia Ford to the stand and she testified she was nearby at a gas station, when, "I was approached by a gentleman, who grabbed my arm and demanded 'give me your keys or I'll hurt you'."

Ford admitted screaming, but surrendered the keys. She claimed Collier allowed her to take her purse out of the car and then asked her which key would start it.

Ford, who owned the 1992 red Grand Prix that Collier is accused of car-jacking, said she then watched as he later picked up his co-defendant and fled from the scene.

Ford said she also later picked Collier's photo out of a lineup.

The last witness called during the morning session was Michelle Swartz, who said she formerly dated Collier, said she saw the pair leave the Grand Motel late that morning in the Escort and return hours later with the red Grand Prix.

Swartz said they told her the red car was stolen and that Scott had shot someone while they were away from Detroit.

During the afternoon session several girl friends were called to the stand, including Lisa Campbell, who testified that Scott claimed he had just killed someone.

Campbell said it didn't phase her at the time because, "He has told me that several times before."

The final witness was Sgt. Ondejko, who denied he and his fellow detective Gordon Malaniak played "the good cop, bad cop routine" with Collier.

Ondejko also denied that he offered to let Collier go if he testified properly, "since I am only interested in the trigger man."

Ondejko read a handwritten statement Collier gave police claiming he woke up on April 2 and found he had a crucial need for about $200.

Collier wrote that he informed Scott (whose street name is "6-9") of his need and Scott told him to get a car and "we'll get some (money)."

KITE

"I began flying kites about 12 years ago after my kids grew up," Good said. "I became interested in the sport when my wife (Gina) and I were in Myrtle Beach, Fla. I bought my first kite there after watching someone fly a kite on the beach one day."

Good began working with single-line kites, but he has since mastered the dual-line. There is a wide variety of styles in this sport including full-fledged, single line, fighter, stunt, quad line, delta, diamond, box and multi-shape kites.

The art of kite flying begins with finding the wind, according to Good.

"You need to find the window of wind before you can fly the kite," Good said. "You find that window by figuring out which way the wind is blowing. Make sure the wind is to the back of your head."

Kites today are made of rip-stop nylon or sail cloth which is able to take hold of the wind better than the old paper kite, according to Good.

"It actually traps the air and then the kite is able to twist and turn with the wind or hover inches above the ground," Good said.

The May 7 event will be the first competition Good said he has ever entered.

"I will be entered in the intermediate level."

Good said. "I'm going to fly the Phantom kite."

Good said he enjoys kite flying because it's fun and relaxing.

"You also meet a lot of interesting people," Good said.

On May 5 there will be a kite decorating program for children at the Wayne Community Center, according to Wayne Chamber of Commerce Director Donna McEachern.

"It will take place from 6 to 7:30 p.m.," McEachern said. "After the coloring, the merchants will have a contest for the best decorated kite."

There will be three age categories the children will enter. The winner will receive a kite. The runner-up in each category will receive tickets to the State Wayne Theater.

Cost for the kite decorating program is $2. McDonalds is providing drinks and cookies for the event. Residents interested in entering their children in the coloring program and contest must register by calling the Wayne Community Center at 721-7400.

The kite flying event is being sponsored by the Wayne Merchants Association in cooperation with the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department.

Free kites are being provided by the Chamber of Commerce members for anyone who would like to fly along with the best of the best. For a list of participating merchants who have kites available contact the Wayne Chamber of Commerce at 721-0100.

Toast to Secretaries

Salute clerks, aides with coffee-cup toast

On Wednesday, bosses will be saluting their favorite secretaries to honor them on Professional Secretaries Day.

For one day each year, our focus is on "the woman behind the scenes" - the secretary who makes appointments, reminds her employer of important dates and events, answers telephone calls, enters data on the computer, greets callers and performs a 101 different tasks that make the operation of the office flow more smoothly.

The woman, or sometimes the man, who fulfills secretarial duties has an important job. Often the job is taken for granted because of the efficiency and expertise of the secretary, who makes the 101 tasks appear to be easy to per-

Walk into the Wayne city manager's office, and you will be greeted by the friendliest smile in town courtesy of Jane Martin.

Although Martin has been John Zech's right hand for only 13 months, her expert know how comes from working as a secretary for seven years.

"I really like this job because I like people, and you get to meet a lot of people in this position," Martin said.

Martin previously worked as a secretary at a contract employment business in Ypsilanti. She said Zech, however, is one-of-a-kind boss.

"He is so easy going," Martin said. "He is very appreciative of any work that you do. He is always there to lend a hand."

The Westland resident said her best assignment so far from her boss involved working on the farewell party for former councilman/mayor Patrick Norton.

"That took a lot of organizing and phone calls, but it was a lot of fun," Martin said.

What is the least favorite part of her job?

"It's putting those big packets together Fridays for the council meetings," Martin said. "You get a little crazy trying to figure out what goes where and making sure it's all in the right place at the right time."

Martin is situated in the pulse of City Hall where she receives up to 50 calls a day on her four phone lines. The constant ringing could drive most anyone crazy, however, it doesn't seem to bother Martin.

"I don't mind it at all," Martin said. "I like talking to people. It's part of my personality. If you don't have a friendly personality, than this job isn't for you. I deal with all kinds of people every day from citizens to the mayor so you have to be nice."

But she admits to getting uptight when there is labor unrest in the district or when rude members of the press call seeking information on school-related deaths or other negative stories.

"We are the first office they call when something goes wrong, such as the death of a junior high student a year or two ago, after he choked on a hot dog and died days later. Those incidents are tough enough without an arrogant member of the press making them worse," McEvilly said.

Annapolis Hospital Westland Center secretary Barbara Adams-Earhart said she just kind of "fell into" her job, starting at the hospital as an electrocardiogram (EKG) technician.

A secretary for 17 years, Adams-Earhart has spent the last 11 years as the department secretary for the chief of psychiatry. Her job involves assisting a total of 10 to 15 doctors daily.

"I help shuffle them (doctors) through their day," Adams-Earhart said.

Adams-Earhart, 48, took time out of her career to marry and raise three children.

Adams-Earhart, who had previous secretarial experience, volunteered for the position because the secretarial staff was short-handed at the time.

"I worked my way up to my current position. Now my job is more secretarial and less clinical," she said.

The department secretary said the worst part of her job is answering the phones with the constant calls from family members, doctors and insurance agencies.

"It gets to the point that I don't even want to call my mother when I'm home," Adams-Earhart said.

The best part of her job, Adams-Earhart said, is her boss, Dr. Kenneth Pitts.

Police secretary puts emphasis on privacy

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER

If you want to know about crimes or misdeeds in Van Buren Township, don't ask Sharon Kennedy. She probably knows about it, but she won't tell.

Confidentiality and privacy are two main factors in her job as police department secretary.

"Some times when my kids would ask me about going somewhere, I'd tell them that, based on my knowledge, it wasn't a good place to go," Kennedy said. "They have always respected that, and didn't ask me to go into detail. This is especially important when your family lives in the community in which you work."

Kennedy said that she must always be on guard to respect the rights of privacy of others.

Nine and one-half years ago, she was hired to fill the secretarial duties for the Van Buren

Police Department. Today, she spends about 75 percent of her work day entering information into the computer system and the remainder of her time answering telephone calls.

"Phone skills are very important. I must be ready to answer questions, use tact and know how to deal with people who may be upset or angry," she said. "I treat people with respect - the way that I would want to be treated."

Kennedy, a 20-year-resident of Van Buren Township, learned her secretarial skills at the Western Campus of Wayne County Community College, located just a few miles from her home and workplace.

"I like people, and there are a lot of opportunities to meet people and deal with the public here," the police secretary said. "I work for fantastic people and I have a good boss. That is what has kept me here. In fact, I'd like to continue here until I retire," Kennedy said.

Barati has worked for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools since 1972 in various capacities at Allen Middle School, East Middle School and Salem High School. And while her title may be school secretary, she describes her job as much more.

Pro-active approach taken against gangs in Belleville

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Taking preventative measures before youth gangs become a major problem for the area is the approach being taken by Belleville, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township and the tri-community Substance Abuse Task Force (SATF).

"We've sent out the message that we're not going to tolerate gangs," said Van Buren Public Safety Director Mark Perkins, who also serves on the SATF board.

"The current ordinances we have are good tools for dealing with gang problems," Perkins said. "We've learned from the past mistakes made by other communities, and we are trying to avoid them by taking a pro-active approach before the gang problem gets out of hand here."

Perkins said the police department has good intelligence regarding the gang operations, and a representative of the department meets with other officers on a monthly basis to keep up-to-date on gang activities.

Ordinances on juvenile conduct have been adopted in Belleville and Sumpter Township recently, and Perkins said Van Buren Township already has many of the sections incorporated into existing ordinances.

Provisions of the juvenile conduct ordinance include:

- Banning unauthorized people on school property and forbidding the disturbance of schools.

- Barring threats, coercion, force or violence against students by anyone attempting to borrow or obtain money or valuables, and forbidding the unauthorized borrowing of money or things of value in the school or when traveling to and from school.

- Forbidding the destruction of school property, grounds, outbuildings, fences, trees or fixtures.

The ordinance also forbids the destruction of private property, the defacing of property by graffiti and harassing or making indecent telephone calls or letters.

No minor may possess a beeper or telephone pager unless he or she is using it as an employee of a duly licensed business. No one under the age of 21 may possess, purchase, obtain or consume alcoholic beverages or transport them in a vehicle.

The Belleville ordinance also deems it unlawful for a minor under the age of 17 to be in a public place or public street between the hours of midnight and 6 a.m., or one under the age of 15 to be in a public place between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.

In addition, an adult having control of the residence or premises shall not allow an open party if any alcoholic beverages or illegal drugs are possessed or consumed by a minor.

The Belleville ordinance outlines parental duties as follows: (1) To keep illegal drugs or illegal firearms out of the home and legal firearms secured in places that are inac-

Westland gang activity increases

Youth gangs in Westland are becoming an increasing problem for the police department and are becoming increasingly violent on a daily basis, according to Westland police officer Scott Hall.

In addition to graffiti, which seemed to be the biggest concern this time last year, this year gang members are committing strong armed and armed robberies, primarily taking victims' jackets.

"I believe they're becoming more violent. They're stealing their colors," Hall said.

The colors Hall referred to are the colored clothing youths wear to identify their affiliation with a gang. Hall added that these crimes usually do not involve the use of weapons.

In a change from last year, smaller scavenger gangs are beginning to consolidate with the larger gangs, Hall said. The gang members are still predominately in the junior and senior high schools, with some elementary-age student involvement.

Hall said Westland police are cracking down on gang members who commit crimes.

"Now they're telling us they're not involved in gangs. It's a more covert act," Hall said.

"I think they're going covert because of zero police tolerance. Most police officers don't give much leeway to gang members. We're making it unpopular to be in a gang," Hall added.

Westland police keep records of the gang activity and conduct interviews with parents of suspected gang members to inform them of their child's conduct.

Hall said these gangs originated in Chicago prisons and spread to youths in the suburbs.

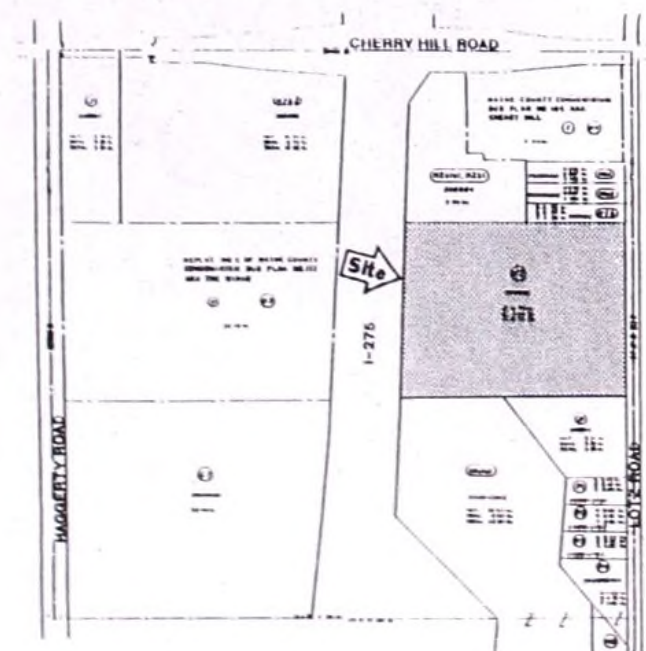

Hall advised parents to take notice if their children wear beads or the same colors all the time. In addition, Hall said, these juveniles have other ways of signifying they are in a gang. Some cut notches in their eyebrows, color the tongues of their shoes or inside pockets or wear colored shoe laces, he said.

TALENTED GUITARIST HEADLINES STAGE IV MARQUEE

It will be an evening of pure enjoyment as classical guitarist Brian Morris takes center stage at 8 p.m. April 20 at the State Wayne Theater.

Morris has delighted audiences of all ages from school children to music scholars.

His past performances have included The Kennedy Center, Western Michigan University and Cal State University-Fullerton.

The talented musician said he always had a love for music, but guitar wasn't the first instrument he mastered.

"I started taking guitar lessons when I was 13 years old," Morris said. "But before that I learned how to play the trumpet and organ."

Morris played in various productions throughout his high school years and then in college. He earned a bachelor's degree with guitarist Christopher Parkening at Montana State University and a master's with Bruce Holzman at Florida State University.

"I've always liked popular music," Morris said. "I'm enjoying performing at various theaters and for organizations. I'm having a lot of fun at what I'm doing."

Morris currently teaches at Grand Rapids Community College and Grand Valley State University. He performs on electric and classical guitars.

From time to time, he plays with the Grand Rapids Symphony and is listed on the Michigan Arts Touring Roster.

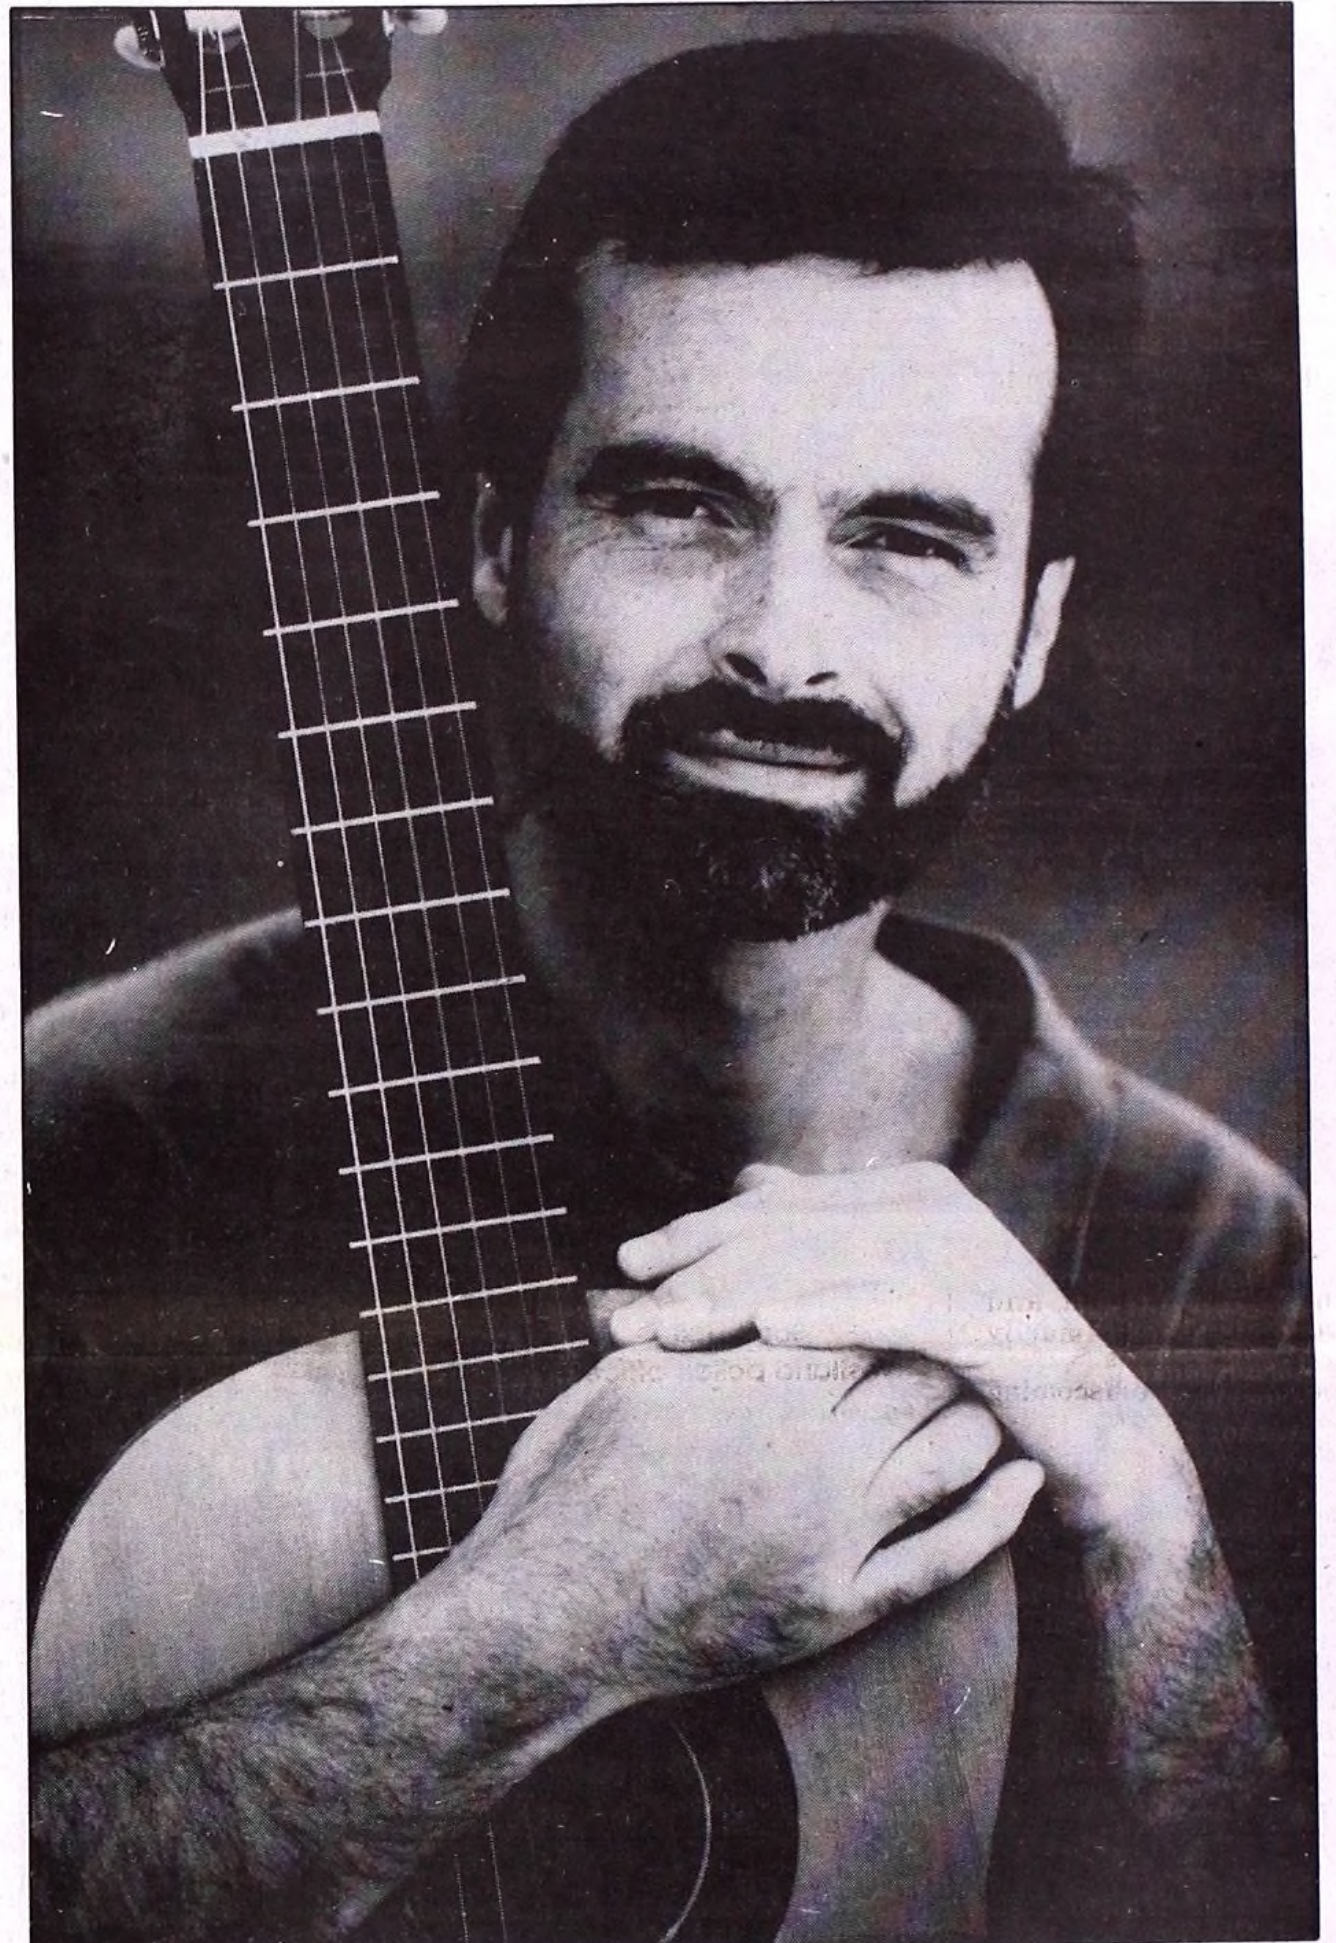

A few years ago Morris did release a tape of his classic guitar tunes. He said in the near future he plans to record a CD of his works.

"You know, 10 years ago this is what I said I always wanted to do, and now that I have achieved my goal, I'm enjoying it and polishing my performing skills," Morris said.

Morris intends to dazzle audiences with a wide range of classical pieces from favorite composers such as Bach.

"I may include some pop and jazz, and, who knows, I may also throw in a folk song or two depending on the mood of the audience," Morris said.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. April 30 concert are now on sale at the Wayne Community Center,

"I'm enjoying performing at various theaters and for organizations. I'm having a lot of fun at what I'm doing."

Ahhhhhh, romance

RENOWNED PIANIST FILLS STATE THEATER WITH SOUNDS OF LOVE

It begins slowly. One note at a time, and then, within a matter of minutes, the audience is captivated by the sweet romantic sounds of the outstanding classical pianist Svetozar Ivanov.

At 8 p.m. May 14 Ivanov has scheduled an evening of romance with western Wayne County residents as he performs 24 preludes from Chopin.

"It will be like going to an exhibition and seeing 24 different pictures as I play the different preludes," Ivanov said.

Born in Bulgaria, Ivanov said his interest in learning how to play piano began when he was only 8 years old.

"We had a piano in the house, and I just wanted to play," Ivanov said. "For me as a youngster it was a lot of fun. I wanted to learn professionally how to play when I was 8 or 9 years old."

When Ivanov turned 13, he said he didn't have any more ambitions to learn the piano from an instructor so he stopped taking lessons.

"I just decided at that time to do it on my own," Ivanov said. "When I was older, about 17 or 18 years old, I knew then that I wanted to learn professionally so I went to the Bulgarian Music Academy for five years."

Ivanov earned a master's degree in piano performance from the Musical Academy of Sofia where his was taught by Snezana Barova. He also studied with Bernard Ringeisen in Weimar, Germany and with Germaine Monnier from The Conservatory of Paris.

It was only three years ago when Ivanov decided to come to the U.S.

"I wanted to study here in America, so I began lessons at the University of Michigan in piano performance," Ivanov said. "I now go two times a week under the instruction of

"I'm now putting together a CD of classical piano music. I like to create different moods with my music. I think in the near future I would like to tour again, but for now I'm trying to master my performance ability as well as being a good teacher. You can't be a good teacher without being a good performer."

Arthur Greene. I also teach students at my home in Birmingham."

Ivanov has appeared as a soloist with The Shoumen Philharmonic, the Sliven Orchestra, The Bulgarian Conservatory Orchestra and in recitals throughout Europe.

"I'm now putting together a CD of classical piano music," Ivanov said. "I like to create different moods with my music. I think in the near future I would like to tour again, but for now I'm trying to master my performance ability as well as being a good teacher."

Tickets for the 8 p.m. May 14 concert are now on sale at the Wayne Community Center, State Wayne Theater and all TicketMaster outlets. Cost is $5 for adults and $3.50 for seniors and students.

Business violates youth work hours

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

As a result of a four-month investigation conducted by Michigan State Police, Wayne Police Department and State Department of Labor, owners G & K Sales in Wayne have been charged with violating the Youth Employment Standard Act.

Randolph P. Koltyk, 31, of Westland, and William O. Gregory, 31, of Canton Township, allegedly had minors working for them longer than the legal 48-hour limit for youths, according to Detective/Sgt. Leonard Goretzki.

"They had minors working too many hours, more than the 48 allowed which includes school hours," Goretzki said. "The time minors attend school is included in the time they are allowed to work."

G & K is a business which solicits donations for the Michigan Association of Police (Southfield), Vietnam Veterans of America (Traverse City), Courage (Southfield) and the Police Officers Labor Council in Troy.

"Each individual was issued a two-count warrant for two separate occasions of minors working over the limit of hours," Goretzki said.

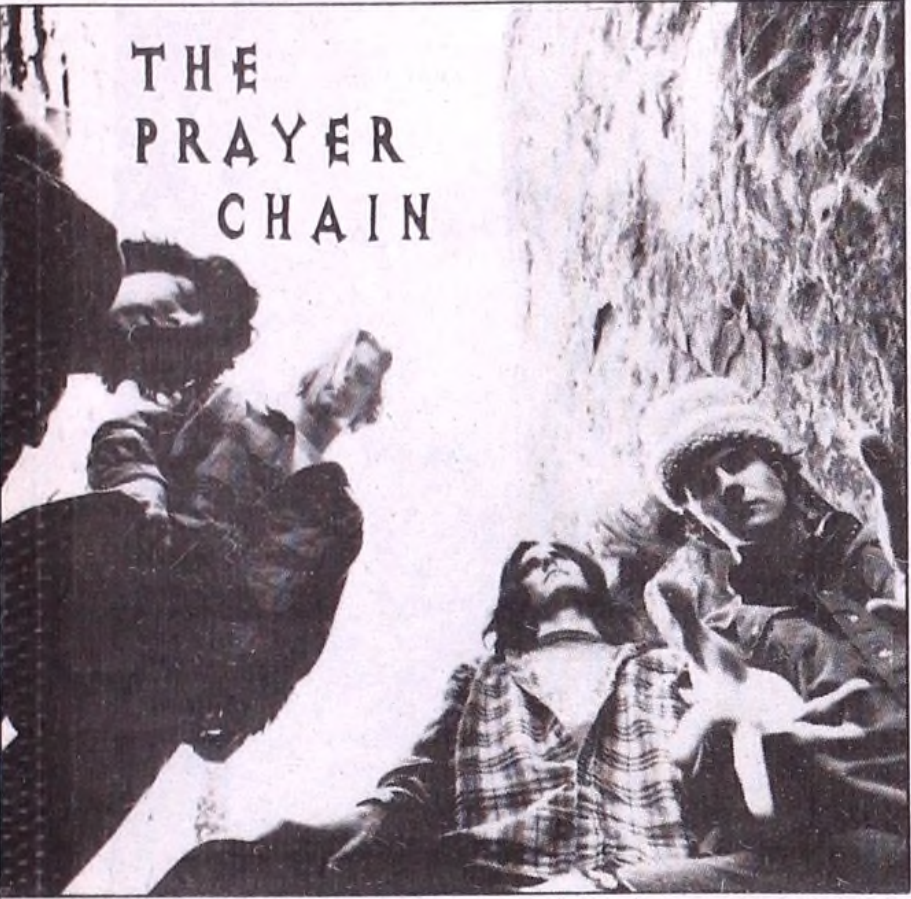

The investigation revealed that the minors were provided with a prepared text that was read to callers. The text involved free fingerprinting for children and the donation of bulletproof vests to local graduates of the police academy.

"We were first notified of what was going on with the minors when citizens called us," Goretzki said. "We also found out that they were hiring minors without doing the proper background checks."

Koltyk is the chief operations officer and Gregory is the chief financial officer for G & K sales. They turned themselves in to the Wayne Police Department, according to Wayne Police Lt. Mel Drews.

If Koltyk and Gregory are found guilty of violating the Youth Employment Act, they could receive not more than one year in prison or a fine of not more than $500 or both.

The defendants were arraigned April 19 before 29th district Court Judge Carolyn Archbold. Both pleaded not guilty. A May 11 pre-trial has been scheduled.

The 77s (top) and the Prayer Chain take center stage at Tri-City Outreach Center in Canton Township 7:30 p.m. April 29.

Music event to benefit AIDS

Western Wayne County residents are invited to attend a special musical benefit to assist the Parents Pediatric AIDS Coalition (PPAC) at Tri-City Outreach Center in Canton Township at 7:30 p.m. April 29.

The 77s and the Prayer Chain have launched a "Buzz Stop" tour in an effort to combat AIDS.

PPAC is an organization that works with schools, churches, and other private institutions to provide education regarding the effects of AIDS on families with infected children.

"In addition to education and advocacy programs, arranging fun activities for the children and their parents is a vital part of what we do as a support group," said Joan Milne, PPAC founder. "Many families of children with the AIDS virus live below the poverty line and are hit with enormous medical bills. Allowing the children to experience as much as they can while they can is very important."

The 77s have released their new CD featuring Drowning With Land In Sight which is now available.

Both bands are touring the U.S. in support of PPAC. Tickets for the Tri-City event are $8 in advance or $10 at the door, and they can be purchased by calling (313)434-4359.

Tri-City is located at 39330 Michigan Ave.

Gang forum is slated

A community forum on "Keeping Kids and Streets Safe" will be offered Tuesday morning at the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army building at 2300 Venoy Road.

The forum slated from 8 to 11 a.m. is sub-titled "a grass roots approach to decreasing the influence of gangs in our neighborhoods."

According to a press release issued by Community Housing and Neighborhood Growth Exchange (CHANGE), the cornerstone of the program is a "no nonsense approach to the problems of youth violence and gang activity."

Forum participants from law enforcement, the judicial system, educators and community based groups will appear from Inkster, Romulus, Wayne and Westland.

Cost to attend the forum is $8 at the door. Further information can be obtained by calling Lee Barrett at United Community Services, Wayne Division, at 313-563-3900.

The types of proposed projects include construction of new roads, widening of existing roads, improvement to existing freeway interchanges and the construction of a new freeway interchange. The TIP document identifies the location of each project, estimated cost, the source of funds and the agency or community which has jurisdiction over the project.

Written comments concerning the projects should be submitted to John M. Amberger, Executive Director of SEMCOG, at 660 Plaza Drive, Suite 1900, Detroit, MI, 48226. Happy birthday Local business marks anniversary

Mel Morris, owner and operator of Rent-A-Wreck of Wayne, celebrates his first year of success as a Rent-A-Wreck franchise this month.

Since joining the Rent-A-Wreck system, the Wayne fleet has grown to include a variety of vans, trucks and cars.

"Our focus as a company over the past year has been to meet the rental needs of this community. We've made the Rent-A-Wreck name stand for quality and service," Morris commented.

Morris is proud to note that virtually everyone who has ever taken to the road has heard of Rent-A-Wreck, but he is quick to note few are aware the company is celebrating 25 years of service in 1994.

"Another important aspect of our company is the public's need to know that we do not rent wrecks," he says. "Many of our franchises feature new and nearly new vehicles."

Like other Rent-A-Wreck veterans, Morris enjoys sharing the company history with customers. "They get a kick out of learning that David Schwartz of Los Angeles, our founder, rented old cars to stars like Henry Fonda, Ali McGraw and Ringo Starr so they could go out and have a little privacy, because nobody believed they went anywhere unless they were driving Roll Royces and Jaguars," a Rent-A-Wreck spokesman said.

"From this the name caught on and the growth has been tremendous," Morris added.

Rent-A-Wreck was founded in 1973 and began franchising in 1978. For five straight years Entrepreneur magazine ranked

Holistic healing reduces stress

What is holistic healing? Simply put, it is the combination of the efforts of the body, mind and spirit to assist in a healing process.

Officials from the AV-Tech-Holistic Healing Center in Romulus state that far too often people find themselves in the doctor's office seeking a cure for what ails them. The magic pill will make them well again, according to the doctors.

Doctors, however, do not cure. They provide the optimum approach to wellness. It is up to the patient to follow the advice and take the medication.

If the patient does not take the medication or follow the advice, who is to blame? Well, the poor doctor is responsible because he or she did not effect a cure.

This happens daily across the U.S., the failure of individuals to take responsibility for their own wellness.

With holistic healing, whether for stress reduction, weight control or quitting smoking, the responsibility is placed on the individual to take control of their own problem and resolve it with the assistance of a staff member, a spokesman from the Romulus office said.

The office deals daily with the two strongest addictions known to mankind—nicotine and food, he added.

"Recent televised reports indicate that major tobacco companies are controlling the nicotine content of each cigarette. True or not, nicotine is addictive. By combining your body, mind and spirit, you can overcome that or any addiction," he said.

"Our mind creates images for us, when needed. Right now, visualize yourself healthy and smoke free. For those who do smoke, you have hypnotized yourself into smoking, worse yet you have allowed an addiction to control your life," he added.

"You need to take optimal control of your life, by controlling your mind. We provide training exercises for controlling your mind, and we assist you in breaking away from your addictions," the spokesperson said.

"To give you an idea on how the power of the mind works, close your eyes and think of a very negative situation that you have experienced. Play it over and over again in your mind. Feel the anger build to the boiling point," he advised.

"One thought creates one emotional response. You can create any feeling that you wish just by thinking of it. What we fail to realize is that the mind cannot distinguish between reality and imagination," he explained.

"In all of our programs, we provide stress identification and give you an in-depth analysis of your stressors and how to overcome your problems," he said.

Nerve impulses can trigger dizziness

Most of us can remember feeling dizzy after a roller coaster ride or when looking down from a tall building.

Dizziness arises from unusual changes that disrupt our normal feeling of stability.

But dizziness can also be a sign that there is a disturbance or a disease in the system that helps people maintain balance. This system is coordinated by the brain, which reacts to nerve impulses from the ears, the eyes, the neck, limb muscles and joints of the arms and legs.

If any of these areas fail to function normally or if the brain fails to coordinate the many nerve impulses it receives, a person may feel dizzy.

The feeling of dizziness varies from person to person, and, to some extent, according to its cause, it can include a feeling of unsteadiness, balance or even spinning.

Disease-related dizziness, whether it takes the form of unsteadiness or spinning, is fairly common in the older population. Today, both older and younger people with serious dizziness problems can be helped by a variety of techniques-from medication to surgery to balancing exercises.

To understand what goes wrong when we feel dizzy, we need to know about the vestibular system by which we keep a sense of balance amid all our daily twisting and turning, starting and stopping, jumping, falling, rolling and bending.

The vestibular system is located in the inner ear and contains the following structures: vestibular labyrinth, semicircular canals, vestibule, utricle and saccule. These structures work in tandem with the vestibular areas of the brain to help us maintain balance.

The vestibular labyrinth is located behind the eardrum. Within the vestibule and the semicircular canals are patches of special nerve cells called hair cells.

The vestibular labyrinth is located behind the eardrum. Within the vestibule and the semicircular canals are patches of special nerve cells called hair cells.

Also located in the inner ear are tiny calcium stones called otoconia. When you move your head or stand up, the hair cells are bent by the weight of the otoconia.

The bending of the hair cells transmits an electrical signal about head movement to the brain. This signal travels from the inner ear to the brain along the eighth cranial nerve-the nerve involved in balance and hearing.

The brain recognizes the signal as a particular movement of the head and is able to use this information to help maintain balance.

Hospital introduces education program

John Smith was cutting his lawn last week when he felt a sharp pain in his chest.

His terrified wife rushed him to the emergency room at Garden City Hospital where his life was saved by a newly-implemented procedure which hospital personnel are hoping to offer to more patients.

But they have to cooperate. And to cooperate, they have to understand the importance of getting to the hospital as soon as they experience any chest pain or symptoms of a heart dysfunction. Because the sooner they arrive, the more effective and less traumatic effective treatment can be.

Garden City Hospital officials recently participated in the GUSTO Clinical Research Trials aimed at dissolving clots in patients who are candidates and who presented themselves with very early symptoms in the Garden City emergency room with a complaint of chest pain.

"The patient was evaluated as to whether the chest pain indicated myocardial infarction and, if that patient met the criteria," said a hospital official. "They were given a clot dissolving medication called TPA."

Through the research that was done on these particular patients, it was found that the time of onset of chest discomfort and the patients' presentation to the emergency room was longer than hospital officials would have liked.

"In order for the thrombolytic medication to be effective, it is exremely important that anyone experiencing chest discomfort should be evaluated in an emergency department as soon as possible," said hospital officials. "We decided a program was necessary to educate the public on this information."

The education program is scheduled for 7 p.m. April 25 in the Garden City Hospital auditorium. Four cardiologists and an exercise physiologist will be lecturing. A time has been set aside for a question and answer period plus a tour of the cardiology department.

For more information on the program call Garden City Hospital at 458-3245.

"Stress plays a very important part in our lives. Did you know that if you are doing all the right things to lose those unwanted pounds, stress will prevent your weight loss," he claimed.

"Stress produces hormones which inhibit weight loss. Now go to any diet center throughout the country and see if they will even discuss the effects of stress on weight loss. Most will not for the simple reason they want you as a repeat customer," he said.

"I'm sure you are aware of the yo-yo syndrome, lose and gain. It's unfortunate for many because it's hard to break that cycle because when you starve yourself, the body gets ready to store fat for the next period of starvation," he said.

"Did you know that stress is caused by boredom on the job as well as at home. Everyone has experienced boredom because it represents and expression of what we call a basic emotion," he noted.

"A basic emotion is a type of emotion that has a very important role in our lives. The bored individual feels a sensation of irritability or rejection in the digestive system which is why when a person feels totally bored and restless, he or she may feel as if something is being shoved down their throat," he said.

"And, that's why many people deal with boredom by eating. They try to substitute pleasurable food for an irritation," he explained.

"Your emotions control your health and happiness. We know and understand the problems you are faced with getting through each and every day. We are here to assist you in taking responsibility and control of your life," he said.

"We at AV-Tech-Holistic Healing Center do not cure, we do not make people stop smoking or lose weight. We provide you with an opportunity to get in touch with your body, by working with the mind through the guidance of the spirit," he added.

"You have the potential, however, you may lack the basic skills to achieve the success that you are looking for. Are you ready to take responsibility for your own wellness? Call us at 941-7084, and we will assist you in establishing your personal wellness program," he concluded.

Getting centered

Trying to get that extra surge of energy to start the day off right?

A health and fitness center in Wayne has just the cure for the low energy blues. The Center Health and Racquet Club at the Wayne Community Center not only has a friendly atmosphere with expert trainers, but the facility also houses the most up-to-date cardiovascular equipment.

The Center offers enough action-packed activities planned throughout the day to tone most any body. The facility has been in existence since 1978, according to Cathy Broge, manager of The Center Health and Racquet Club.

"We have newly remodeled men and women's locker rooms," Broge said. "We have showers, sauna, steam room, whirlpool, four racquetball courts and three wallyball courts."

"We also have aerobic exercise classes throughout the week."

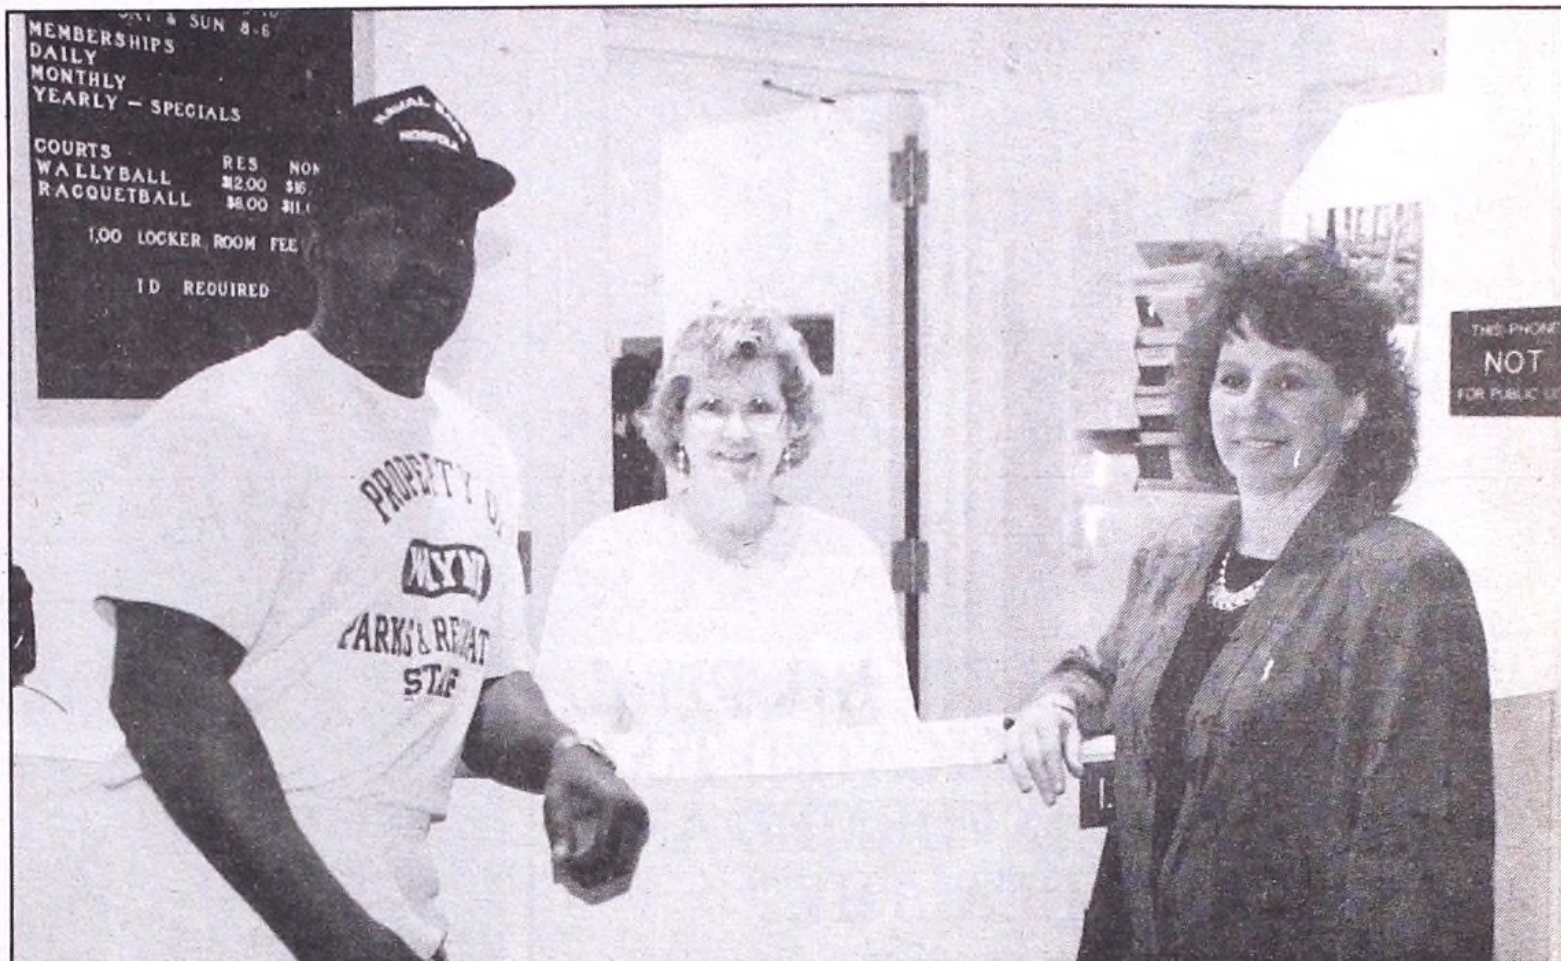

Aerobic classes take place once in the morning and two times in the evening.

There is also a co-ed weight-training room and separate workout facilities for men and women. The Center has Universal, York and cardiovascular equipment.

"We have children's programs which offer creative dance, ballet, tap and gymnastics," Broge said. "We're planning a children's dance recital in May."

Getting in shape doesn't have to be dull and boring. Wayne husband and wife team Tim and Lorraine Mulray work out together, and they said they enjoy helping each other stay fit.

"We work out about five days a week," Tim Mulray said. "We're not

Lowering cholesterol and moderate exercise can prevent heart disease

Heart disease tends to affect women about 10 years later than men, but poses a comparable threat.

It is by far the leading cause of death for women after menopause, and even premenopausal women have the same chance of dying from heart disease as they do from breast cancer.

Estrogen circulating in the systems of reproductive-aged women appears to protect against the development of heart disease until some time after menopause. Estrogen binds to low density lipoproteins (LDL or "bad" cholesterol), resulting in lower circulating levels of LDL in the blood.

Only now is evidence emerging that heart disease affects men and women differently. One important finding is that diet, weight loss, and exercise appear to be less effective as cholesterol-lowering interventions in women than in men - with some speculation that estrogen acts as a "buffer" against environmental influences. Obviously this may be less true for older women, whose cholesterol levels do seem to benefit somewhat more from exercise.

An extremely important precaution against heart disease is to stop smoking, which sharply increases your risk of having a heart attack. Even one cigarette a day can put you in danger.

In addition, women who take supplemental estrogen after menopause have half the rate of fatal heart attacks as do those not undergoing hormone replacement therapy (HRT). Estrogen also protects against osteoporosis and alleviates unpleasant symptoms of menopause - which is why most women elect to under HRT in the first place.

Despite these advantages, only about 15 percent of post menopausal women take estrogen in the U.S. This is due to fears about a possible slight increase in the risk of breast cancer and a three-fold inflating including fruit juices; eating foods high in fiber; and getting daily exercise.

The most important thing to remember is that all of these symptoms are normal.

Pregnancy aches and pains can be avoided

Pregnancy is a time of changes, the most outwardly noticeable of which occur in your body.

As the baby grows, the body adapts, and that can cause some discomfort. While not all women experience the same things, there are some aches and pains that are fairly common.

The first of these discomforts is morning sickness. This nausea - which generally occurs in the first three months of pregnancy and may not be limited to mornings - is triggered by hormonal changes.

To combat the nausea and vomiting, slow down your morning routine. Stay in bed and eat some dry toast before getting up. Instead of eating large meals, eat several small meals each day so your stomach is never completely empty.

Hormonal changes can also cause fatigue and, as estrogen increases, your breasts begin to grow and feel slightly sore. At the same time, your uterus is growing and will push against your bladder, causing more frequent urination. In the middle of the pregnancy that problem will disappear temporarily, only to return in the last month or so when the baby drops deeper into the pelvis and again puts pressure on the bladder.

As the baby grows, your center of gravity will shift toward your back to make up for the extra weight in the front. This can cause backaches. To help ease the pain, wear flat or low-heeled shoes; avoid lifting heavy objects; squat down to lift rather than bend from the waist and sleep on your side with your top leg bent.

The digestive system is also impacted by pregnancy. Indigestion can be relieved by eating small meals; sitting up while eating; waiting two hours after eating before exercising; and not lying down too soon after a meal.

Additionally, digestive changes can cause constipation, which is best combated by drinking plenty of crease in the risk of endometrial cancer associated with estrogen use when it is taken by itself.

To protect against the potential increased risk of endometrial cancer, progestin has been added routinely to estrogen preparations for HRT. This "combination therapy" is now widely accepted. Unfortunately, progestin may slightly reduce estrogen's protective cardiac effects. It is not yet known how much protection against heart disease combination therapy offers, but probably less than that from estrogen alone.
